Doctors Elect Omaha Medic 1967-68 Academy President

By LUCILLE HUTCHINSON
Star Staff Writer

Dr. C. Lee Retelsdorf of Omaha Thursday was voted president-elect of the Nebraska Chapter of the American Academy of General Practice meeting here for its 17th annual scientific session.

Retelsdorf, a 1955 University of Nebraska College of Medicine graduate, will be president in the 1967-68 term.

Lincoln physician Dr. George E. Lewis Jr. was installed as president of the academy for 1966-67, succeeding Dr. Otis W. Miller of Ord. Lewis is a 1951 graduate of the NU College of Medicine.

Scientific Sessions

Some 125 general practitioners are meeting in several scientific sessions here Thursday and Friday for post graduate review of medical practices.

Opening the two-day session was Dr. Donald C. McIlrath of Rochester, Minn., head of the general surgical section of the Mayo Clinic, discussing diagnosis of malignancy of the gastro intestinal tract.

McIlrath later Thursday spoke on the surgical management of carcinoma of the stomach and periampullary region.

Respiratory Distress

Steroid therapy in rheumatic conditions, respiratory distress in newborn infants and chemical control of behavior also were considered in the scientific meeting. Dr. M.E. Alberts of Des Moines, Iowa, and Dr. George J. Lytton of the University of Kansas at Kansas City, led discussions.

Cervical cancer and Rh factors are topics slated for Friday meetings.

Nebraska general practitioners were strongly urged to take part in political affairs supporting the conservative philosophy of organized medicine in an effort to "defeat socialism."

Dr. Max Raines of North Platte, told doctors they must "get involved" and "expend some time, effort and money" to get political action in the battle of conservatism vs. socialism.

Politician

Addressing a noon meeting of the Nebraska academy, Raines claimed that "in order to be a free citizen in a free society, you will be a politician."

The North Platte physician declared that the medical profession has the "biggest clientele to influence in the state," in addition to having the respect of patients on medical matters and others, including politics. Doctors should at least express their political opinions to their clientele, which Raines described as a "captive audience.

"I maintain that if all doctors in Nebraska become politically active, they could be the single most potent force in the state," he said.

The physicians were urged to join medical political action committees and display and read literature emphasizing a conservative viewpoint.

Rights Commission Attacks Morrison

. . . FOR LEADERSHIP LACK

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Members of the Governor's Human Rights Commission Thursday criticized Gov. Frank Morrison for "lack of leadership" in human relations and housing and employment opportunities.

Sparking the criticism at a regular commission meeting was Morrison's reply to a commission letter regarding Omaha's racial disturbances over the last July 4th weekend.

The commission letter charged that elected state and city officials had done nothing in employment, housing and recreation reforms in Omaha until forced by "irresponsible groups" in the July 4th rioting.

It charged that the elected leadership of Nebraska and Omaha had ignored the same recommendations and requests from responsible Negro and civil rights organizations.

In a biting retort to the commission, Gov. Morrison wrote he "appointed this commission for the purpose of identifying problems and seeking solutions—not publicly condemning public officials."

He termed the commission letter "an attack" on Omaha Mayor A. V. Sorensen and "embarassing" to the governor's office.

"Let's face it," said Mrs. Thomas Hayes of Omaha, the commission's secretary. "Gov. Morrison hasn't done all he could with his office and before the Legislature in solving human relations problems."

Hasn't Done Much

"Morrison hasn't done much to clarify the issues," she said. "This is a political year and the voters will clarify the issues for the governor and Mayor Sorensen."

"The root (of the problem) has not been touched," she added. "The governor was wrong in quashing the commission's letter."

James Wolfe, commission member from Albion, agreed that commission had given its chairman, Pete Lakers of Columbus, free rein to write the letter to express the group's feelings regarding minority groups in Omaha.

"It's a kind of a I-told-you-so letter," Wolfe said, "but there is a lack of leadership among elected officials."

He said, "I can think of many instances where leadership from our governor could have put the commission on the road to solving some of our problems."

He noted that several years ago the commission had discussed disbanding for lack of support from the governor's office.

General Indictment

He said he did not consider the letter a personal attack on Mayor Sorensen, but a general indictment of lack of elected state and municipal leadership in dealing with minority problems.

However, Mrs. Alex McKie of Omaha, commission vice chairman, said she didn't think the letter was in full character with the commission's thinking.

"I'm objecting to the tone, the innuendos," she said. "The facts are true."

She said it wasn't the commission's purpose "To throw rocks," but there has been "a lack of leadership all the way down the line."

The commission letter noted at the July 4th riots that state and Omaha officials had established an employment office near Omaha's Near North Side, found municipal job opportunities for 50 youths, commenced work to expand recreational facilities, and began contacting private employers to provide job opportunities.

"The leadership of this State and the City of Omaha vested in its elected officials have ignored or denied to responsible Negro and Civil Rights organizations," the letter said, "the requests for actions that is now being provided after the irresponsible acts of a number of desperate people."

The commission declined to censure its own letter, but did vote that future wording of "policy letters" be reviewed by its executive commission before forwarding.

Alvarez Faces Murder Charges

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

Thomas A. Alvarez was charged Thursday with three counts of first-degree murder in connection with the Wednesday strangulation-slaying of Mrs. Edward O'Shea Jr.

The 19-year-old former Denver boxer, clad in a plaid sport shirt and wash pants, appeared before Lancaster County Judge Ralph Slocum with his court-appointed attorney T. Clement Gaughan.

Alvarez, showed little emotion but kept his head down as Lancaster County attorney Paul Douglas read the charges which were—murder with deliberation and premeditation, murder in the perpetration of a robbery and murder in the perpetration of rape.

Got an Attorney

Alvarez had repeatedly indicated during questioning Wednesday night after his apprehension that he did not desire counsel, but apparently changed his mind, and Gaughan was appointed upon Alavarez's signing an affidavit he could not afford to hire a lawyer himself.

The defendant requested a preliminary hearing which was set for 2 p.m. Sept. 29 before Judge Slocum.

Defense attorney Gaughan said the first step will be to seek a "psychiatric evaluation" of the defendant.

Suicide Attempt

The youth spent nine months in the U.S. Navy but was honorably discharged about three months ago after a suicide attempt, according to Gaughan.

Denver authorities were scheduled to arrive in Lincoln sometime Thursday night to question Alvarez in connection with the Aug. 16 strangulation-slaying of a 14 year-old babysitter in Denver.

Alvarez had been questioned in connection with the sex murder earlier but Denver authorities had released him after a lie detector test.

Lincoln Police Inspector Robert Sawdon said that Detective Sergeant Paul Montoya of the Denver Police will question Alvarez sometime Friday.

Douglas said that he has no intention of surrendering Alvarez to Denver authorities during the pendency of the case against him here.

Douglas said that Alvarez who had been doing yard work Wednesday in the vicinity of the O'Shea home at 1200 Piedmont Rd., had signed a statement concerning his involvement in the case.

Picked Up

The body of Mrs. O'Shea, 36, the mother of four children, was found by a neighbor, Mrs. James Swanson, after being summoned by a son of the victim.

Douglas said that Alvarez had arrived at the O'Shea home about noon Wednesday and the slaying occured about 1 p.m. after which Alvarez's boss picked him up at a prearranged time, and Alvarez quit and got paid by Lincoln Landscaping where he had been employed since Sept. 10.

He said the defendant told him he then went to his sister's Mrs. Steve Williams of 5539 Oldham where he had been staying since his arrival in Lincoln and borrowed his brother-in-law's car to go to Gateway Shopping Center to cash his check

Returns To Sisters

After cashing his check, he went back to his sister's home to pack to go back to Denver, Douglas said, and then took a cab downtown and bought a ticket at the bus terminal.

Since he had time before his bus was to leave, Alvarez got a haircut, Douglas said, and en route back to the bus terminal at about 4:30 p.m., he was apprehended by Lincoln police.

Douglas declined to identify the object used in the strangulation but said that a short rope found lying on the drive of the O'Shea residence was definitely not connected with the crime.

Negro Youth Saw Mob Topple, Stomp Friend

Oxford, Miss. (AP)—A Negro teen-ager who attended a newly integrated Grenada school Monday told Thursday of being struck by a soft drink bottle thrown by screaming whites and of seeing a friend knocked to the ground and stomped.

"People were shouting. 'Stomp that nigger, kick that nigger, kill him,'" continued Tommy Williams Roberts, an eighth grader. "Then the sherriff walked slowly over and broke it up."

A Negro father told of screaming whites with ax handles stopping his car near Grenada's high school and a white man with a blackjack smashing a window and "coming after me."

Felix Freelon, testifying in federal district court here, said he ran from the car to a policeman but the officer said he was busy.

The hearing, before Judge Claude Clayton, was on a Justice Department request for a preliminary injunction to strengthen the restraining order he issued Tuesday requiring Grenada authorities to protect Negro pupils. Schools at Grenada, 45 miles to the southwest were in recess Thursday, on the judge's orders. Clayton said he was concerned for the pupil's safety since Grenada authorities were required to be at the hearing here.

Among them were Sheriff Suggs Ingram and Constable Grady Carroll.

After conferring with Grenada authorities and Justice Department lawyers, the judge said Grenada schools could reopen Friday.

Whites Met Car

Mrs. Mary Peyton said she felt her son would have been killed had he alighted from a car outside the school. She said the crowd of whites met the car as she approached the high school.

Two policemen watched, she said, but made no effort to break off the crowd when they began throwing rocks at the car.

James Bonney, Associated Press newsman from Jackson, who covered the school desegregation this week at Grenada, described the beatings of Negro pupils and newsmen.

Saw UPI Man Hit

Bonney told of seeing Robert Gordon, United Press International newsman from Jackson, being attacked in front of the school. Bonney said Gordon, with blows hitting him from all sides, ran to the school property where an officer was on duty.

The officer ordered Gordon off the school property and when he turned back, the whites began beating and kicking him again, the witnesses said.

Marines In Tangle With Red Nemesis

Headquarters said it was the first contact for Marines of the 1st Battalion, 26th Regiment, who came ashore Thursday morning three miles south of the buffer zone to hunt an old enemy, North Viet Nam's 324B Division.

The more than 1,200 U.S. Marines were unopposed as they landed and began sweeping the rice paddies and marshlands in the northern part of Quang Tri province.

A U.S. spokesman said the enemy troops, camouflaged with grass tied to their uniforms, were spotted as they moved down a trail.

Short, Fierce

The spokesman said the enemy engaged in a brief but fierce fire fight five miles north of Dong Ha. He reported three enemy troops killed. Marine casualties on the reconnaissance team were moderate, he said.

Three members of the Marine patrol which came upon the enemy said they were surrounded and had to be evacuated by helicopter.

It was reported in Saigon that the Marines killed three.

The Marine sweep swung the spotlight of the ground war away from a far more massive American operation in the Bong Son area 220 miles down the coast. From Cong and North Vietnamese troops — the equivalent of nearly four communist divisions—have been killed since last Jan. 1. American combat deaths since the first of the year total 3,186, in the five years of war 5,034.

Filipino Arrival

A 730-man contingent of the 2,000 troops the Philippines is this operation, launched Tuesday. 10,000 or more troopers of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division have listed 31 communists killed, 18 captured.

A rise in over-all casualties on both sides reflected moderate action in widely separated fields last week.

Allied combat dead totaled 248—71 Americans, 174 South Vietnamese and three of other nationalities—against 187 in the week of Aug. 28-Sept. 3.

Communist dead were listed at 1,166, up 281.

In addition to the 71 Americans killed, 450 were wounded and eight missing or captured. That compared with 74 killed, 570 wounded and 10 missing in the previous week.

By allied count 37,158 Viet committing to South Viet Nam arrived by ship at Cam Ranh Bay. The contingent, made up of military engineers, security guards and medics, will work at a camp in Tay Ninh province, northwest of Saigon.

The Philippines is the sixth foreign nation to be represented militarily in South Viet Nam. The others are the United States, South Korea, Australia, New Zealand and Thailand.

Recent American arrivals have swelled ranks of the U.S. armed forces in Viet Nam to 308,000 men. The expectation is there will be about 400,000 by the end of the year.

RED GUARD ROMP ENDS

Chiefs: Go Help Harvest

PEKING RALLY A GOING-AWAY

Tokyo (AP)—Communist China's leaders decreed a temporary halt Thursday to the month-long rampage of the young Red Guards and urged them to help bring in the harvest. The orders were issued during a mass rally in Peking that amounted to a farewell party.

Under the gaze of Party Chairman Mao Tze-tung, Defense Minister Lin Piao, who is Mao's heir apparent, and Premier Chou En-lai, about a million Red Guards and army soldiers jammed into the Plaza of Heavenly Peace, Japanese correspondents in Peking reported.

Tanjug, the Yugoslav news agency, reported there were a million Red Guards alone, many from the provinces.

For hours before the rally, streets leading into the famed plaza were jammed with Red Guards carrying flags, huge portraits of Mao and placards with Mao's sayings, the newspaper Asahi said. They beat drums, cymbals and gongs, sang revolutionary songs and chanted quotations from Mao.

Mao was silent, as he had been at two big Red Guard rallies last month at the height of the teen-ager campaign against anti-Mao and foreign elements. There have been numerous reports he is in poor health and a Hong Kong newspaper has said he has cancer of the throat, making it difficult for him to speak at length.

Speaking first, Lin urged the Red Guards "to uphold Chairman Mao's teachings, strengthen the power of the revolution by uniting with the workers, peasants and soldiers, and firmly concentrate on production."

Lin told the Red Guards they had "acted correctly and done well." He added: "The present main target of attack is those within the party who are in power and taking the capitalist road."

Chou: Go Help

Then Chou spoke, urging the Red Guards to go into the country and help the peasants with the harvest.

One Japanese correspondent quoted informed sources as saying the rally put an end to the great influx into Peking of Red Guards from other cities and they are now expected to go back home and work.

The official New China News Agency said many Red Guards already had scattered to the countryside in many parts of China to help the peasants with the autumn harvest, adding: "The standing crops promise a good harvest this year."

Shortly before the rally, the official Peking People's Daily announced that the Red Guards should suspend their activities until after the harvest season.

Mayor Ponders Veto On 2 Proposals

By ROB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

Mayor Dean Petersen said Thursday he has not yet decided whether to approve or veto two controversial ordinances passed by the City Council Monday.

In a memorandum filed with the city clerk, the mayor confirmed his approval of all other measures passed at the last council session, but noted "I have not approved or disapproved" the ordinance abolishing public gasoline sales by the municipal gas station and one making it unlawful to leave the key in the ignition of an unattended car.

"I haven't had time to decide what I'm going to do," the mayor commented. He has until next Wednesday to act.

Both ordinances have evoked controversy and were passed without the unanimous consent of the council.

The public gas sales question was raised last year by Councilman John Mason and an ordinance ending the station's public function was approved by the council before being vetoed by Acting Mayor Mrs. Helen Boosalis. The veto was upheld.

The new muni gas ordinance was approved 5-2, with Mrs. Boosalis and Councilman John Comstock voting in the negative.

Comstock also introduced an amended "key-in-car" law, which also passed 5-2 with Mrs. Boosalis and Councilman Lloyd Hinkley dissenting.

Mayor Petersen admitted he has "some reservations" about both ordinances, with "stronger feelings" reserved for the ignition key law.

"I have a feeling we're invading people's privacy . . . I think we can go too far to protect people—they have to do some things themselves," the mayor said.

If the mayor does use his veto power, the council can accept it, in which case the vetoed measures do not become law, or the veto can be overridden with four council votes.

Doctors Elect Omaha Medic 1967-68 Academy President

By LUCILLE HUTCHINSON
Star Staff Writer

Dr. C. Lee Retelsdorf of Omaha Thursday was voted president-elect of the Nebraska Chapter of the American Academy of General Practice meeting here for its 17th annual scientific session.

Retelsdorf, a 1955 University of Nebraska College of Medicine graduate, will be president in the 1967-68 term.

Lincoln physician Dr. George E. Lewis Jr. was installed as president of the academy for 1966-67, succeeding Dr. Otis W. Miller of Ord. Lewis is a 1954 graduate of the NU College of Medicine.

Scientific Sessions

Some 125 general practitioners are meeting in several scientific sessions here Thursday and Friday for post graduate review of medical practices.

Opening the two-day session was Dr. Donald C. McIlrath of Rochester, Minn., head of the general surgical section of the Mayo Clinic, discussing diagnosis of malignancy of the gastro intestinal tract.

McIlrath later Thursday spoke on the surgical management of carcinoma of the stomach and periampullary region.

Respiratory Distress

Steroid therapy in rheumatic conditions, respiratory distress in newborn infants and chemical control of behavior also were considered in the scientific meeting. Dr. M.E. Alberts of Des Moines, Iowa, and Dr. George J. Lytton of the University of Kansas at Kansas City, led discussions.

Cervical cancer and Rh factors are topics slated for Friday meetings.

Nebraska general practitioners were strongly urged to take part in political affairs supporting the conservative philosophy of organized medicine in an effort to "defeat socialism."

Dr. Max Raines of North Platte, told doctors they must "get involved" and "expend some time, effort and money" to get political action in the battle of conservatism vs. socialism.

Politician

Addressing a noon meeting of the Nebraska academy, Raines claimed that "in order to be a free citizen in a free society, you will be a politician."

The North Platte physician declared that the medical profession has the "biggest clientele to influence in the state," in addition to having the respect of patients on medical matters and others, including politics. Doctors should at least express their political opinions to their clientele, which Raines described as a "captive audience.

"I maintain that if all doctors in Nebraska become politically active, they could be the single most potent force in the state," he said.

The physicians were urged to join medical political action committees and display and read literature emphasizing a conservative viewpoint.

Alvarez Faces Murder Charges

By GERRY SWITZER

Thomas A. Alvarez was charged Thursday with three counts of first-degree murder in connection with the Wednesday strangulation-slaying of Mrs. Edward O'Shea Jr.

The 19-year-old former Denver boxer, clad in a plaid sport shirt and wash pants, appeared before Lancaster County Judge Ralph Slocum with his court-appointed attorney T. Clement Gaughan.

Alvarez, showed little emotion but kept his head down as Lancaster County attorney Paul Douglas read the charges which were—murder with deliberation and premeditation, murder in the perpetration of a robbery and murder in the perpetration of rape.

Got an Attorney

Alvarez had repeatedly indicated during questioning Wednesday night after his apprehension that he did not desire counsel, but apparently changed his mind, and Gaughan was appointed upon Alavarez's signing an affidavit he could not afford to hire a lawyer himself.

The defendant requested a preliminary hearing which was set for 2 p.m. Sept. 29 before Judge Slocum.

Defense attorney Gaughan said the first step will be to seek a "psychiatric evaluation" of the defendant.

Suicide Attempt

The youth spent nine months in the U.S. Navy but was honorably discharged about three months ago after a suicide attempt, according to Gaughan.

Denver authorities were scheduled to arrive in Lincoln sometime Thursday night to question Alvarez in connection with the Aug. 16 strangulation-slaying of a 14 year-old babysitter in Denver.

The body of Mrs. O'Shea, 36, the mother of four children, was found by a neighbor, Mrs. James Swanson, after being summoned by a son of the victim.

Douglas said that Alvarez had arrived at the O'Shea home about noon Wednesday and the slaying occured about 1 p.m. after which Alvarez's boss picked him up at a prearranged time, and Alvarez quit and got paid by Lincoln Landscaping where he had been employed since Sept. 10.

He said the defendant told him he then went to his sister's Mrs. Steve Williams of 5539 Oldham where he had been staying since his arrival in Lincoln and borrowed his brother-in-law's car to go to Gateway Shopping Center to cash his check.

Marines In Tangle With Red Nemesis

Headquarters said it was the first contact for Marines of the 1st Battalion, 26th Regiment, who came ashore Thursday morning three miles south of the buffer zone to hunt an old enemy, North Viet Nam's 324B Division.

The more than 1,200 U.S. Marines were unopposed as they landed and began sweeping the rice paddies and marshlands in the northern part of Quang Tri province.

A U.S. spokesman said the enemy troops, camouflaged with grass tied to their uniforms, were spotted as they moved down a trail.

Short, Fierce

The spokesman said the enemy engaged in a brief but fierce fire fight five miles north of Dong Ha. He reported three enemy troops killed. Marine casualties on the reconnaissance team were moderate, he said.

Three members of the Marine patrol which came upon the enemy said they were surrounded and had to be evacuated by helicopter.

It was reported in Saigon that the Marines killed three.

The Marine sweep swung the spotlight of the ground war away from a far more massive American operation in the Bong Son area 220 miles down the coast. From Cong and North Vietnamese troops — the equivalent of nearly four communist divisions—have been killed since last Jan. 1. American combat deaths since the first of the year total 3,186, in the five years of war 5,034.

Filipino Arrival

A 730-man contingent of the 2,000 troops the Philippines is this operation, launched Tuesday, 10,000 or more troopers of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division have listed 31 communists killed, 18 captured.

A rise in over-all casualties on both sides reflected moderate action in widely separated fields last week.

Allied combat dead totaled 248—71 Americans, 174 South Vietnamese and three of other nationalities—against 187 in the week of Aug. 28-Sept. 3.

Communist dead were listed at 1,166, up 281.

In addition to the 71 Americans killed, 450 were wounded and eight missing or captured. That compared with 74 killed, 570 wounded and 10 missing in the previous week.

By allied count 37,158 Viet committing to South Viet Nam arrived by ship at Cam Ranh Bay. The contingent, made up of military engineers, security guards and medics, will work at a camp in Tay Ninh province, northwest of Saigon.

The Philippines is the sixth foreign nation to be represented militarily in South Viet Nam. The others are the United States, South Korea, Australia, New Zealand and Thailand.

Recent American arrivals have swelled ranks of the U.S. armed forces in Viet Nam to 308,000 men. The expectation is there will be about 400,000 by the end of the year.

RED GUARD ROMP ENDS

Chiefs: Go Help Harvest

PEKING RALLY A GOING-AWAY

Tokyo (AP)—Communist China's leaders decreed a temporary halt Thursday to the month-long rampage of the young Red Guards and urged them to help bring in the harvest. The orders were issued during a mass rally in Peking that amounted to a farewell party.

Under the gaze of Party Chairman Mao Tze-tung, Defense Minister Lin Piao, who is Mao's heir apparent, and Premier Chou En-lai, about a million Red Guards and army soldiers jammed into the Plaza of Heavenly Peace, Japanese correspondents in Peking reported.

Tanjug, the Yugoslav news agency, reported there were a million Red Guards alone, many from the provinces.

For hours before the rally, streets leading into the famed plaza were jammed with Red Guards carrying flags, huge portraits of Mao and placards with Mao's sayings, the newspaper Asahi said. They beat drums, cymbals and gongs, sang revolutionary songs and chanted quotations from Mao.

Mao was silent, as he had been at two big Red Guard rallies last month at the height of the teen-ager campaign against anti-Mao and foreign elements. There have been numerous reports he is in poor health and a Hong Kong newspaper has said he has cancer of the throat, making it difficult for him to speak at length.

Speaking first, Lin urged the Red Guards "to uphold Chairman Mao's teachings, strengthen the power of the revolution by uniting with the workers, peasants and soldiers, and firmly concentrate on production."

Lin told the Red Guards they had "acted correctly and done well." He added: "The present main target of attack is those within the party who are in power and taking the capitalist road."

Chou: Go Help

Then Chou spoke, urging the Red Guards to go into the country and help the peasants with the harvest.

One Japanese correspondent quoted informed sources as saying the rally put an end to the great influx into Peking of Red Guards from other cities and they are now expected to go back home and work.

The official New China News Agency said many Red Guards already had scattered to the countryside in many parts of China to help the peasants with the autumn harvest, adding: "The standing crops promise a good harvest this year."

Shortly before the rally, the official Peking People's Daily announced that the Red Guards should suspend their activities until after the harvest season.

Mayor Ponders Veto On 2 Proposals

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

Mayor Dean Petersen said Thursday he has not yet decided whether to approve or veto two controversial ordinances passed by the City Council Monday.

In a memorandum filed with the city clerk, the mayor confirmed his approval of all other measures passed at the last council session, but noted "I have not approved or disapproved" the ordinance abolishing public gasoline sales by the municipal gas station and one making it unlawful to leave the key in the ignition of an unattended car.

"I haven't had time to decide what I'm going to do," the mayor commented. He has until next Wednesday to act.

Both ordinances have evoked controversy and were passed without the unanimous consent of the council.

The public gas sales question was raised last year by Councilman John Mason and an ordinance ending the station's public function was approved by the council before being vetoed by Acting Mayor Mrs. Helen Boosalis. The veto was upheld.

The new muni gas ordinance was approved 5-2, with Mrs. Boosalis and Councilman John Comstock voting in the negative.

Comstock also introduced an amended "key-in-car" law, which also passed 5-2 with Mrs. Boosalis and Councilman Lloyd Hinkley dissenting.

Mayor Petersen admitted he has "some reservations" about both ordinances, with "stronger feelings" reserved for the ignition key law.

"I have a feeling we're invading people's privacy . . . I think we can go too far to protect people—they have to do some things themselves," the mayor said.

If the mayor does use his veto power, the council can accept it, in which case the vetoed measures do not become law, or the veto can be overridden with four council votes.

LBJ Gets Bill On Bank Interest Rate Flexibility

Washington (AP) — Congress completed action Thursday on a flexibile bank interest bill, one item in President Johnson's anti-inflation program, while other proposals drew fire from business witnesses at House hearings.

Sent to the White House was a bill that would permit federal agencies, for one year, to establish different categories of deposits in savings institutions and set different ceilings on the interest paid on such deposits. The Senate cleared the measure with a voice accepting the House version.

It is intended to reduce the competition of commercial banks for the kind of savings that in the past have gone into savings and loan associations and have been used to finance home building and buying. This mortgage market is one of the tightest areas in the current money squeeze.

But real estate spokesmen told the House Ways and Means Committee that another Johnson proposal—suspension of favorable depreciation rules for tax purposes—would bring apartment building to a halt.

Two witnesses expressed concern that Johnson's recommendation for suspension of the investment credit that allows business to recover 7% of spending on equipment would seriously disrupt industries supplying long lead time equipment — expecially aircraft and railroad cars.

The interest bill sent to Johnson Thursday not only gives the Federal Reserve Board and Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. flexible authority to establish different interest ceilings but also gives the Federal Home Loan Bank Board power to set maximum dividend rates for savings and loan associations.

This part of the bill is intended to protect savings and loan associations from too stiff competition by banks offering high-paying certificates of deposit.

Russians May Move If U.S. Troops Leave

Washington (AP)—U.S. officials cautioned Thursday that if American troops are withdrawn from Europe in any substantial numbers, Russia might take advantage of Western weakness.

None of the West European countries appears ready to take up the slack that would be left by a large U.S. troop withdrawal, the officials said.

Many North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries could not boost their armed forces quickly enough because of serious economic and political problems, it was explained.

The officials, although declining to be named, were replying in effect to a Senate Democratic Policy Committee proposal that the United States reduce its troops in Europe and give the allies a chance to fill their original troop quotas .

The committee's proposal was made Sept. 1 and co-signed by 13 senators, including Democratic leader Mike Mansfield, Armed Services Chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., and Senate Democratic whip Russell B. Long, D-La.

The Senate Democrats said "a substantial reduction of U.S. forces permanently stationed in Europe can be made without adversely affecting either our resolve or ability to meet our commitment under the North Atlantic Treaty."

Thant Asks U.N. Members To Stop Asking Him To Stay

United Nations, N.Y. (AP)—U Thant asked U.N. members to stop trying to draft him for a second term as secretary-general and start quietly looking for a replacement.

He made the plea before about 160 delegates and news correspondents at a luncheon of the correspondents' Dag Hammarskjold Scholarship Fund.

Thant's remarks were the first he had made on the subject publicly since he sent the 117 nations written notice Sept. 1 that he had decided not to offer himself for a second term to follow his first five-year term expiring Nov. 3.

Some delegates present said afterward that Thant had not closed the door definitely on continuing as secretary-general. Others stressed that his remarks pointed in that direction, since he could just as well have chosen not to say anything.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg issued this statement:

"We have read with care and interest the statement by Secretary-General U Thant and we have the greatest respect for his views and opinions, but it is still the belief of the U.S. government that the interests of the United Nations and world peace would best be served by Secretary-General U Thant remaining in his position."

CIA Canning Agent Tofte

Washington (AP)—The Central Intelligence Agency served a one-month dismissal notice Thursday on Hans. V. Tofte, the veteran agent who has been at odds with his CIA bosses.

Clinging to the policy of saying as little as possible publicly, a CIA spokesman declined to go beyond this barebones announcement:

Tofte, a 55-year-old Danish-born agent who began his intelligence career in the anti-Nazi underground in World War II, called the CIA action arbitrary and asserted that if it is allowed to stand unchallenged "we are indeed in danger from an invisible government."

Tofte got into trouble with his CIA superiors over a July 23-24 weekend incident. He was suspended with pay from his $25,000-a-year job while a board of inquiry checked.

Commonwealth Leaders Expect Call's Rejection

London (AP)—Commonwealth leaders Thursday night wound up 10 days of angry talks expecting Rhodesia's rebel rulers to reject Britain's call for surrender.

He proclaimed next Nov. 11—first anniversary of the day he seized independence—a public holiday, a day during which Rhodesians should celebrate what he called "the greatest day in Rhodesia's history."

This was not the language of a man about to accept Prime Minister Harold Wilson's ultimatum to return to British control before the year is up or face the wrath and compulsory sanctions of the United Nations.

In Lusaka, capital of neighboring Zambia, passions generated by Wilson's refusal to unleash fierce action against Smith ran high.

Racist Maddox In Run-Off Duel

Atlanta, Ga. (AP)—Segregationist Lester G. Maddox, beating back a strong moderate challenger, apparently won second place Thursday in the Democratic race for governor and headed for a run-off duel with liberal Ellis G. Arnall, who led a six-man field.

Late returns from rural precincts shoved Maddox, 50, into the run-off Sept. 28 with Arnall, 59, a former governor making a comeback bid after 20 years out of office.

The apparent contest between Arnall and Maddox loomed as a polarizing fight with the winner facing a conservative Republican, Rep. Howard H. Callaway, next November in Georgia's first two-party governor's race.

Rights Bill's Last Rites Set

Washinton (UPI) — The Senate will conduct last rites Monday for the administration's moribund "open housing" civil rights bill and then start a determined drive for at least a pre-election recess in mid-October.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield filed a second cloture petition Thursday for a vote Monday on whether to halt debate on the House-passed rights measure. Even he conceded the futility of the move.

After the Senate's 54-42 defeat Wednesday of a similar attempt to end the sluggish filibuster against the bill, no one on Capitol Hill was willing to bet that administration forces would muster the required two-thirds vote a second time around.

Cosmonauts Say Gemini 11 Useful

Damascus, Syria (AP)— Soviet cosmonauts Pavel Belyayev and Lt. Col. Alexei A. Leonov said here Thursday the U.S. Gemini 11 space flight was "a useful contribution to space science."

Gemini 11 Scores Bull's-Eye

Aboard the USS Guam (AP)—Glinting in the tropical sun, tiny Gemini 11 guided its proud pilots to a breathtaking, bull's-eye landing in the Atlantic Ocean Thursday, home safe and sound from three historic days in space.

The band played. The sun shone. Navy Cmdr. Charles (Pete) Conrad Jr. and Lt. Cmdr. Richard F. Gordon Jr. strode briskly, arms swinging, across the ship's deck, holders of seven new man-in-space records.

They let it be known they were thrilled. Gordon, America's newest spacewalker, came home with this declaration of earth after their ride to a record altitude of 850 miles: "Boy, it's really round."

Looks Good 2 Ways

"This old world looks pretty good from the deck of this carrier," the dark-haired father of six noted. "But I'll tell you something else, it looks great from 850 miles. You ought to all see that."

Conrad told the cheering sailors aboard the USS Guam, churning along about 725 miles southeast of Cape Kennedy, Fla.: "We had a very good flight, and after a couple nights' rest we'll be ready to go again."

Not only did they soar higher and faster than any man, they caught a fleeting Agena target rocket in the world's quickest rendezvous and linkup, then twirled in formation with it tied to them.

These two longtime friends, buddies since fighter-pilot days, whizzed around the globe 44 times, leaving a trail of more than a million miles in their wake. The trip ended as no other manned flight—with the spacecraft doing all the work.

Automatic Re-entry

Conrad and Gordon kept "hands off" the controls, letting the spaceship's guidance system guide them through the blazing re-entry into earth's atmosphere. It performed well, plunging them to within two miles of the ship.

They came so close that millions of television viewers got a ringside seat of the journey's end with live pictures beamed via Early Bird satellite. This was the third consecutive Gemini mission that ended within range of television cameras.

Gemini 11 wasn't the closest to its mark, though. Gemini 9 holds that record by missing the pinpoint only 399 yards.

The pilots began their homeward jaunt at 7:24 a.m., triggering four braking rockets on their spaceship as they sped over the Pacific. This slowed them from 17,500 miles an hour to about 17,200, enough to let earth's gravity take hold.

'Right On Money'

Once through the blackout period—the height of the re-entry period when communications were lost—Conrad's voice came through loud and clear: "We're right on the money with the auto (automatic re-entry)."

"You're on TV!" mission control barked gleefully to the astronauts.

"Roger," came the reply.

Dangling from a blooming white and orange parachute, Gemini 11 swayed back and forth as it broke into sight dead ahead of the Guam. It struck the water with a big splash at 8 a.m.

Three of the Guam's helicopters circled the capsule as it descended, disappearing once behind a billowing cloud. Swimmers wasted no time leaping into the water from a helicopter, to signal "thumbs up"—the awaited sign that the astronauts were in good shape.

Within half an hour, the pilots, wearing sunglasses and Navy flight caps—the words "Gemini 11" on both and individually signed "Dick" and "Pete"—bounded off the helicopter.

In Good Shape

Both made brief statements, then strolled directly to sick bay where doctors gave them quick physical examinations. Dr. John Droescher pronounced them in excellent condition after 71 hours in space.

In fact, he noted, 'They look better than I do."

Tedious Task

Then, it will be the long, tedious job of describing the story of their bold flight to fellow astronauts and National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials.

Among the happiest souls around after the sensational splashdown were the families of the astronauts.

"I never doubted for a moment that he'd be all right," said Mrs. Gordon at her Houston home.

"Isn't that fantastic," screamed Conrad's wife. Asked what her husband could do for an encore since he is now a veteran of both the eight-day Gemini 5 flight and now Gemini 11, she replied:

"I guess he'll have to go to the moon!"

PETE, DICK'S 7 RECORDS TOLD

Fastest rendezvous and docking — first orbit. The old mark was three orbits.

First rendezvous using on-board equipment. Other flights got help from the ground.

First multiple docking in space — each astronaut did it twice.

First flight of tethered vehicles. Gemini 11 and the Agena satellite flew three hours tied together with a 100-foot cord.

Longest extravehicular activity — astronaut Richard Gordon was exposed to the vacuum of outer space 2 hours and 52 minutes. Astronaut Eugene Cernan set the old mark of 2 hours and 10 minutes on Gemini 9.

First automatic re-entry. Astronauts on previous flights have either manually controlled the spacecraft or shot back on a ballistic course.

First flight of tethered vehicles. Gemini 11 and the Agena satellite flew three hours tied together with a 100-foot cord.

Longest extravehicular activity — astronaut Richard Gordon was exposed to the vacuum of outer space 2 hours and 52 minutes. Astronaut Eugene Cernan set the old mark of 2 hours and 10 minutes on Gemini 9.

First automatic re-entry. Astronauts on previous flights have either manually controlled the spacecraft or shot back on a ballistic course.

"Sure I inspect the new equipment at Frontier. I want to make certain that everything about our airline is the best.

Doesn't every airline president?"

We've just bought five big new Arrow-Jets to cover Frontierland at 600-miles-an-hour starting this fall. But our president Lewis Dymond is never happy with our new equipment until it gets his personal perusal. He knows what he wants, too: he used to be a pilot as well as a vice president in charge of operations, engineering and maintenance. That's one of the things that keeps us flying so high. Fly Frontier and see. It's the airline that knows the West. Best.

$4.1 Billion Earmarked For Public Works Bill

. . . Nebraska Meaures on House Committee's OK List

Washington (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee approved Thursday a $4.1 billion public works money bill for the 12 months ending next June 30.

More than half the total—nearly $2.2 billion—is for the varied research and development activities of the Atomic Energy Commission.

The remainder would finance construction and planning of hundreds of government flood control, navigation, irrigation and power projects throughout the country.

The total for all agencies is $56.1 million less than requested by President Johnson and $214.5 million less than Congress granted last year for similar activities.

Increase LBJ Request

The committee allowed more than the President requested for water resource development, adding $19.1 million to the $198.4 million budget of the Reclamation Bureau for irrigation and water supply activities in the west and trimming the $1.2 billion budget of the Army Engineers for rivers and harbors and flood control by only $2.6 million.

The committee approved funds requested in the President's budget for 25 new construction project starts by the Army Engineers, four by the Reclamation Bureau and two by the Tennessee Valley Authority. It added funds for 21 additional new construction starts, the largest being on the $74 million Chatfield Dam project at Denver, Colo.

In an individual report, Rep. Glenn R. Davis, R-Wis., said the bill "will further fan the fires of inflation."

He served notice that he will propose on the House floor amendments to strike out all unbudgeted funds for new construction, planning and survey starts, all new budgeted projects primarily for recreation and those which he considers not urgent and having a weak financial justification.

Following is a list of Army Engineer and Reclamation Bureau water development projects in the Nebraska area for which funds were approved by the committee for the year ending next June 30:

Construction — Gering Valley $1,100,000, Little Papillion Creek $1,000,000, Norfolk $1,27[illegible], Salt Creek and Tributaries [illegible] Missouri River agricultural levees Iowa Kansas Missouri and Nebraska $7 [illegible].

Surveys — Big Blue River $[illegible], Elk Horn River $[illegible], Nemaha Little Nemaha River $[illegible], Niobrara River Gavins Point Reservoir $[illegible], Platte River $[illegible], Salt Creek and tributaries $[illegible].

The committee also listed $[illegible] for Missouri River construction, Garrison Dam to Oahe Reservoir $1,[illegible] for construction, Big Bend Dam Lake Sharpe in South Dakota $[illegible] for construction, Oahe Reservoir in South Dakota and North Dakota.

Missouri River reclamation investigations

South Dakota — Oahe Unit $450,000.

Missouri Basin activities not listed by states in bill.

Interior Missouri River Basin Field Committee $[illegible], Missouri surveys $2[illegible], special investigations $170,000.

Hooper Couple Awarded $85,000 For Cab Accident

Kansas City (AP)—A federal jury awarded a Hooper, Neb., veterinarian and his wife $85,000 Wednesday in a suit against the American Cab Co.

The judgement was for injuries the couple suffered when a cab in which they were riding May 30, 1964, was in a collision with another vehicle.

Dr. and Mrs. M. G. Watchorn had sought a total of $350,000, alleging the accident was the result of negligence by the cab driver.

The defendant had stipulated liability prior to the trial, and the only issue was the amount of damages.

Morrison Is Given COPE Endorsement

Omaha (UPI) — Governor Morrison, admonished last year by state AFL-CIO officials, has been recommended for endorsement by the labor organization's Committee on Political Education (COPE).

Morrison, three-term democratic governor, seeks the U.S Senate post now held by Republican Carl T. Curtis.

The COPE recommendation will be submitted to the AFL-CIO convention Sept. 26. It could be accepted or rejected.

Also recommended were Democrat Phil Sorensen for governor, Democrat Ross Rasmussen for lieutenant governor, and the three Democratic congressional candidates, Rep. Clair Callan, Richard Fellman and John Homan.

Recommended for other offices were: Republican Secretary of State Frank Marsh for re-election; Republican State Auditor Ray C. Johnson for re-election; Republican Attorney General Clarence Meyer for re-election; Democrat state Treasurer Fred Sorensen for re-election; and Democrat James Munnelly, who seeks a berth on the State Railway Commission from the Second District.

The following endorsements were recommended for non-partisan legislative posts: 4th district, Mike Russillo, Omaha; 6th, Harold T. Moylan, Omaha; 8th, Pat Moulton, Omaha; 10th, Allen Pirsch, Omaha; 12th, Don Bastemeyer, Omaha; 14th, Joe W. O'Connel, Omaha; 20th, Bill K. Bloom, Omaha; 24th, Rudolph C. Anderson, Lincoln; 28th, Roland Luedtke, Lincoln; 35th, Don Elrod, Grand Island; 30th, Fred Carstens, Beatrice; 46th, Harold D. Simpson, Lincoln, and 48th, Terry Carpenter, Scottsbluff.

Victor Meyers, Nebraska state COPE director, said the endorsements for county races will be made by the Central Labor Union Council in that area.

He said recommendations on the 15 constitutional amendments and two referendum issues would be made at a later date.

Funds Released For Fremont Sewage Plant

By The Associated Press

Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., reported in Washington Thursday the release of $20,000 in federal funds due Fremont in connection with construction of the Fremont municipal sewage treatment plant.

Curtis said acting comptroller general R. F. Keller informed him that the U.S. Labor Department exceeded its legal authority in ordering federal funds withheld from the city.

"Accordingly, the acting comptroller general has authorized the Secretary of the Interior to release to the city by the federal water pollution control administration under the Labor Department's order," Curtis said.

Curtis said he became involved in the Fremont case "when I received a complaint last February that $228,900 in federal aid had been withheld from the city for 3½ months because of an order issued by the Labor Department in response to a complaint by the national plumbers union that certain work on the construction project should have been performed by plumbers instead of laborers.

"The order was issued retroactively when the project was 70 to 80% completed. It would have increased the costs substantially for the project. A Fremont official advised me that withholding of the federal money had put a critical strain on city finances."

Curtis said he protested to the Labor Department and the $228,900 was released to the city. But "the Labor Department insisted its position was correct and continued to hold back $20,000," Curtis said.

Now, said Curtis, the acting comptroller general has ruled that the Labor Department, under the circumstances, had no authority to direct the water pollution control administration to withhold money due Fremont.

Extended Forecasts

NEBRASKA: For the five-day period, Saturday through Wednesday, temperatures will average near normal with minor day to day changes. Normal highs range in the middle 70s. Normal lows range near 50. Precipitation will average one-quarter to one-half inch in the west to three-quarters in the east, occuring near the beginning and the end of the period.

KANSAS: For the five-day period, Saturday through Wednesday, highs will be near normal. Average highs are normally in the lower 80s. Normal lows near 60 will be attained throughout the period. Precipitation will average one quarter to one half inch in the west to around three quarters of an inch in the east, occuring at the beginning and end of the period.

Summary of Conditions

A trough of low pressure located along the eastern slope of the southern and central Rockies will move eastward into central Texas, central Kansas and northwest South Dakota by Friday morning.

The trough will carry with it moisture from hurricane Helga now located in the Gulf of California. Light rains will leave western Nebraska with the trough and situate in the two state area until Saturday.

Wood Heads Legion Golden Year

Warren C. Wood of Gering, right, is shown with John E. Davis, newly elected national commander of the American Legion, at the group's recent national convention. Wood has been named state chairman to head up all activities for Nebraska in commemorating the 50th anniversary of the founding of the Legion. The celebration will run from August of 1968 to November of 1969.

Morrison Is Given COPE Endorsement

Omaha UPI) — Governor Morrison, admonished last year by state AFL-CIO officials, has been recommended for endorsement by the labor organization's Committee on Political Education (COPE).

Morrison, three-term democratic governor, seeks the U.S. Senate post now held by Republican Cal T. Curtis.

The COPE recommendation will be submitted to the AFL-CIO convention Sept. 26. It could be accepted or rejected.

Also recommended were Democrat Phil Sorensen for governor, Democrat Ross Rasmussen for lieutenant governor, and the three Democratic congressional candidates, Rep. Clair Callan, Richard Fellman and John Homan.

Recommended for other offices were: Republican Secretary of State Frank Marsh for re-election; Republican State Auditor Ray C. Johnson for re-election; Republican Attorney General Clarence Meyer for re-election; Democrat state Treasurer Fred Sorensen for re-election; and Democrat James Munnelly, who seeks a berth on the State Railway Commission from the Second District.

The following endorsements were recommended for non-partisan legislative posts: 4th district, Mike Russillo, Omaha; 6th, Harold T. Moylan, Omaha; 8th, Pat Moulton, Omaha; 10th, Allen Pirsch, Omaha; 12th, Don Bastemeyer, Omaha; 14th, Joe W. O'Conner, Omaha; 20th, Bill K. Bloom, Omaha; 26th, Rudolph C. Anderson, Lincoln; 28th, Roland Luedtke, Lincoln; 35th, Don Elrod, Grand Island; 30th, Fred Carstens, Beatrice; 46th, Harold D. Simpson, Lincoln, and 48th, Terry Carpenter, Scottsbluff.

Victor Meyers, Nebraska state COPE director, said the endorsements for county races will be made by the Central Labor Union Council in that area.

He said recommendations on the 15 constitutional amendments and two referendum issues would be made at a later date.

Midland Enrollment Reaches New Record

Fremont (UPI)—A record enrollment of 844 students for the first semester of the 1966-67 school year has been reported by Midland College. In addition, the enrollment for an evening session totals 152.

Funds Released For Fremont Sewage Plant

By The Associated Press

Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., reported in Washington Thursday the release of $20,000 in federal funds due Fremont in connection with construction of the Fremont municipal sewage treatment plant.

Curtis said acting comptroller general R. F. Keller informed him that the U.S. Labor Department exceeded its legal authority in ordering federal funds withheld from the city.

"Accordingly, the acting comptroller general has authorized the Secretary of the Interior to release to the city by the federal water pollution control administration under the Labor Department's order," Curtis said.

Curtis said he became involved in the Fremont case "when I received a complaint last February that $228,900 in federal aid had been withheld from the city for 3½ months because of an order issued by the Labor Department in response to a complaint by the national plumbers union that certain work on the construction project should have been performed by plumbers instead of laborers.

"The order was issued retroactively when the project was 70 to 80% completed. It would have increased the costs substantially for the project. A Fremont official advised me that withholding of the federal money had put a critical strain on city finances."

Nebraska News

Curtis said he protested to the Labor Department and the $228,900 was released to the city. But "the Labor Department insisted its position was correct and continued to hold back $20,000," Curtis said.

Now, said Curtis, the acting comptroller general has ruled that the Labor Department, under the circumstances, had no authority to direct the water pollution control administration to withhold money due Fremont.

Decatur Driver Killed In Iowa

The State Highway Patrol said Beard's car ran off Iowa 175 and crashed about four miles west of here near Blue Lake.

University Pulls Stops

By WILLLIAM O. DOBLER

The University of Nebraska has pulled out all the stops in its proposed 1967-69 biennial budget, to be acted upon by the Legislature convening this coming January. Through the Board of Regents and university administration, senators will field a request for a 91.48 per cent increase in general or tax fund appropriations. Offhand, an increase of such magnitude would seem to be some kind of record.

Senators and the people of Nebraska may have varied reactions to the $67,019,893 general fund request by the university. From some quarters will come automatically a cry that the taxpayers cannot absorb such a burden as this. From others will come, just as automatically, a downgrading of the cause of education and an indictment of the university administration. From most, it is hoped, will come a thoughtful consideration of the entire university program. This is essential because of one thing, pointed out in the statement by the Board of Regents.

A Broad Look At Program

The board stated that "a moment of truth and crisis has arrived for the University of Nebraska." It is in this light that we must consider what is admittedly a difficult situation. Taxes are already at an all-time high and the narrow tax base on which we operate creates an inequity that compounds the problem. But how do we proceed to better things, to a better state and a better way of life?

When the situation, in this case an economic one, becomes pressing, do we hold on in retreat or do we advance with some sacrifice in anticipation of the returns that can be expected? Do we look for our rewards along the path of least resistance and ease or do we realize that the future belongs to those willing to work for it?

No individual, no locality, no state nor any nation has ever found the fulfillment of aspirations or the realization of potential in following the course of least resistance. Quite the contrary, where progress and satisfaction have been achieved, there lies the wreckage of many conflicts and battles, some of them lost and some of them won but the balance tipped in favor of the latter. This state could take the easy way and slice the university request to ribbons. It could cut the institution back and save millions of dollars but not without paying the penalty. And what would this penalty be? At best it would be a state of mediocrity and at worst it would be a state of total collapse but do not think that the latter could not happen.

We can conceive of no circumstances arising under which the doors of the university would be closed but we can think of circumstances in which disappointed and hardship would prevail and even greater sacrifice than we are now called upon to make would be demanded of us. We can see a situation in which the leading members of the university administration and faculty would depart from Nebraska, in which the physical plant would be totally inadequate and in a state of decay, in which the curriculum would become meaningless and in which our university would, in essence, become an educationally impoverished institution.

If you think this is an exaggeration, it is only because you are not aware of the facts. Such facts, for instance, as our faculty needing a 15 per cent increase in salaries per year just to stay up with regional averages over the next biennium. Such facts, for instance, as the operating budget of the College of Medicine being just half the size of the second lowest such budget of nine medical schools in the Midwest.

Then, there is the fact that since 1961, enrollments have increased more than 80 per cent while appropriations have risen by only 26 per cent. There are other facts in regard to such things as the growing emphasis on research which has a direct bearing on practically all elements of the university.

There is the reality of industrial concern and intimacy with educational institutions and the fantastic acceleration of all fields of knowledge pursued by men today. The university either reacts to all of these things or it ignores them but it ignores them only at the risk of its very existence. Without increases very close to those proposed by the university regents and administration, the institution they serve would suffer grave consequences. Through years of extreme financial conservatism, we have arrived at the point where further curtailment would be deadly, where a bold step forward is demanded of us.

Time To Step Ahead

This university budget is not extravagant, but is aimed only at bringing Nebraska up to a fully competitive level on a regional scale. The people of Nebraska could have been expected to be critical of the board and administration for seeking anything less. The budget proposal marks no dark day in our lives, but rather, is a beacon that lights up our future.

Our Ponderous Achievement

To many, space flight is becoming "old hat." The United States has become a space veteran with many flights totalling 1,733 hours in space. These included a few moments of uncertainty. But there has never been the hint of human tragedy. This is a tremendous record in a strange medium. In itself it is a testimony to U.S. industrial and human skill.

Gemini 11 has just finished an unusually successful flight on the road to successful existence in space. The two astronauts descended comfortably within 1½ miles of exact target bringing with them many more new findings. They ascended one time to 850 miles above the earth, for the first time in human experience, viewing their earth home from that height.

We do not know exactly what constitutes victory in the space race. But we do know at this juncture that the U.S. has had more men in space for almost three times as long as has Russia and that we have contributed more to space knowledge in terms of human capacity than any nation. No one can take that pioneering record away from us.

It is a tremendous age in which we live and we have learned one important lesson. We have tremendous people who can grow into new achievements along with science. There is no discernible limit on human capacity. And that is a very important discovery. And there seems to be no discernible limit on human courage.

The conquest of space is perhaps the most constructive, the most enlightening, the most worthy human expression of all time.

No New Civil Rights

While referred to by its adherents as something else, the filibuster against President Johnson's new civil rights bill appears headed for success. It is now doubtful that Congress will be able to muster a vote on the issue, that it will find itself crowded off the agenda by business with a better prospect of action.

One might ask why or how such a situation could come to pass. Why, at this particular juncture, should a civil rights program find itself floundering on the floor of Congress? It may seem strange because the cause of civil rights is one that has burned hot in our midst in recent years. It has reached the peak of its intensity in a framework of unusual public understanding and sympathy.

But another ingredient has seemed to become a part of things recently—the ingredient of uncertainty. The new proposed civil rights legislation contains at least two titles that are controversial, one having to do with jury selections and the other promoting open occupancy in home sales.

It is not that the American people oppose desegregation in either of these two areas, but the entire civil rights movement has created anxieties of late. It has been found that to guarantee civil rights is one thing but to secure them is another.

From the guarantee to its actual implementation is a step we have found difficulty in taking. It has resulted in violence that has served no useful purpose and created conflicts that never before existed. The American people favor equal rights but the transition to that point should be an evolutionary, not a revolutionary, process. Failure of the new civil rights legislation probably represents a pause for people who want to catch their breath again in a situation whose complexities have confounded them.

The Story Of Wymore

Wymore, which used to be known as the railroad town of southeastern Nebraska, is now becoming known as the tomato capital of Nebraska. This is so because growers there are producing quantities of high grade tomatoes the year around. They are planning a substantial enlargement of their present production facilities.

Like several other towns in the state Wymore has gone in for hydroponic agriculture — a matter of growing crops which never see soil. They grow in nutritious water solutions.

The story of Wymore is interesting, not just because it grows tomatoes the year around. But because it is a town that thinks and works and continues to run strong whatever happens. It was a creature of the Burlington Railroad on the Kansas City-Denver line, built only a mile from the older town of Blue Springs because an early day landowner named Wymore gave the townsite to the railroad which put a depot there and named the place for the donor. And that is not all. The Burlington built substantial shops there and provided the town with most of its population and most of its payroll money. Wymore flourished.

Then real bad news began to come in. The character of railroading changed. Wymore began to lose its importance. One by one the shops were closed. The railroad population declined. The town seemed on its way to a community of empty houses and decayed business streets. The future promised a small sleepy village with nothing but history. Then the depression hit it a second jolt.

But a town that should have languished suddenly began getting well. A group of townsmen went to work. Among them was Ralph Brooks a school man, who was brought in to restore the educational system. Later he became governor of Nebraska. Others did substantial work. Today Wymore is not known for the big trains it serviced and its heavy railroad interest. It is bigger and better than ever and even the scars of its hard years have disappeared.

New Met To Open To Cheering World

NEW YORK — When the elite of New York, starched and diamond-studded, crowd into the Metropolitan's new $45.7 million opera house today (Sept. 16), it will not only make musical history but set some landmarks for racial and international understanding.

Down in Mississippi, the people of that state, both white and black, will be proud of the fact that a Negro girl from the Chisholm plantation near Laurel was picked to sing the star role of Cleopatra for the opening of the Met. Laurel is headquarters for the White Knights of the Ku Klux Klan. But bigotry will be forgotten in Laurel and elsewhere as Leontyne Price opens the new Metropolitan opera house.

And in West Germany, where American bombers knocked out the opera houses of Munich, Frankfurt, Hamburg and Cologne, the German people will get a feeling of satisfaction at the opening of the new opera house in New York. Because their government donated $2,500,000 to make the new Metropolitan possible, the Vice Chancellor Erich Mende, together with such prominent editors as Henri Nannen of Der Stern, is flying the Atlantic for the opening.

In the foyer of the new opera house stands a statue by the German sculptor, Lehmbruck, officially unveiled last week, which bears a plaque reading: "In grateful recognition of the generous gift of the German government."

Austria, which had its famed Vienna opera house knocked into a mass of rubble by American bombers, is contributing the beautiful chandeliers which extend from the dome of the new Met, 23 stories high. And Italy, whose Milan opera house was demolished by American bombers, has contributed marble plates for the Met's interior.

For a little over a year, Miss Price has known that she would play the lead in "Antony and Cleopatra," and she has spent the year working up to the big night. She has read all the books there are on Cleopatra. She rehearsed, rested, and practiced.

"I appreciate the significance of my being chosen for this part," she says. "I'm not going to have this chance again."

Leontyne remembers the Chisholm family which picked her out of a Mississippi church choir and sent her to study at the Juilliard music school. And she knows the struggle her people have had over the years, and the thousands of rooters she has in Mississippi, both white and black. She is not going to let them down.

☆ ☆ ☆

Though the people of Germany and Austria contributed to the new Metropolitan Opera House, it's doubtful that it could have been completed in the same period of time had it not been for the generosity of one New York family — the Rockefellers. John D. Rockefeller, III, grandson and namesake of the founder of the Standard Oil millions, was the mainspring in raising money for the Met, with help from his brother Nelson, the governor of New York.

Japanese Finding A New Identity

TOKYO—The first thing the visiting American should know about the Japanese is that they are a totally different branch of the human species.

We look back to Greece and Rome for just about everything we think and do. But who among us studied Japanese history while we were in school? Nobody. We just don't know what it means for a people to have lived so long without mixing. We, above all people, can't understand total insularity.

There are other factors that separate us. For example, the Japanese have the world's worst language, filled with extreme complexities. Since the war, there has been some effort to teach and encourage English in the schools. But it has been very shallow, most inadequate.

We should try to understand, too, what it mean to the Japanese psyche to have been defeated and occupied. It was devastating to the Japanese temperament. Gen. Douglas MacArthur and his people did an able job of restoring the economy, in fact, it has been a miraculous comeback. But the Japanese sought for something else. They searched for a new identity.

Nothing of the past would suffice. The children grew up to hate their elders for letting themselves be led into a war they couldn't win, one which could only destroy them. Patriotism became a bad word.

Then they found the new national image they sought. They found it in the Olympic games of '64. They, the Japanese, were hosts to the nations of the whole world. That did it, even more than the economic miracle that had made them the envy of the world.

☆ ☆ ☆

Japan is getting along fine with its neighbors, who once hated it. The anti-Japanese feeling in South Korea has dissolved under Japan's economic aid and Japan has loaned Nationalist China $150 million, and has contributed as much as the U.S. has to the Asian Development Bank, $200 million. Trade back and forth with Red China came to $470 million last year. Red China is now Japan's fifth biggest customer: U.S., U. S. S. R. Philippines and Canada take precedence. But perhaps not for long. Mao's people — some 700,000,000 of them — need everything Japan makes, and if they want something today that Japan doesn't have, the Japanese will make it for them tomorrow.

Farming One Long Gamble

By MONA B. PARKER

J. C. Crosland of Mullen was feeling a mite pensive, in the Hooker County Tribune . . .

It's that time of year, he muses, when he wonders what has become of the summer's wages and whether "we have fattened up enough to get through winter."

Winter schedules for this and that are showing up, "days are getting short enough so we'll soon be coming to work in the dark and home under the same conditions, and will see the sun only through dirty office windows."

He compares this quiet time of year to twilight of the average day, a period of wondering what has been accomplished, and a looking forward to a new day ahead.

George Miller of Papillion didn't mind saying right out that their household was just too quiet, with three small ones away visiting grandparents.

"Two adults gazed at each other and made conversation without competition. Mealtimes passed quickly and quietly. As their vacation started, we wondered how the trio would make out away from home. But as the week wore on, we were just as concerned with how the adults at home would last until the disruptive factors returned . . . Such large doses of peace and quiet were almost too much . . . We hope the three returnees were just as glad to see us at vacation's end as we were to see them."

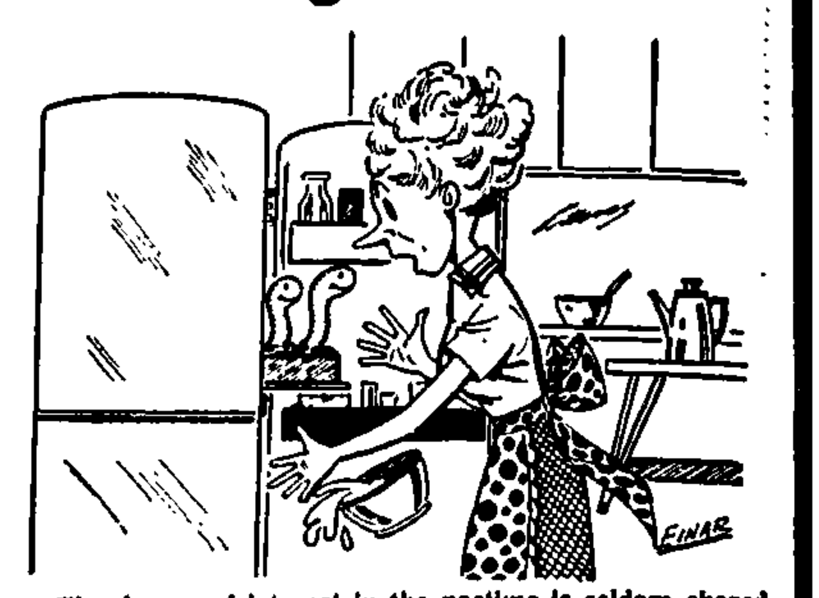
G. E. R. Wechter of the Stanton Register is a grandmother who enjoys her role to the fullest. Her imaginary role isn't always Grandma, either. Many times it's the bad guy, commanded to "Drop it, Hombre, and reach!" while a plastic gun is poked in her ribs.

"I'll tell you this," she writes, "it isn't safe to grow old and slow around these parts!"



The degree of interest in the pastime is seldom shared by the wives of those fishermen who pursue their prey so enthusiastically. And especially does the little women take a dim view of the situation when equipment or anything else pertinent thereto starts to interfere with her own work area, namely, the home in general, and the kitchen in particular. One such Wayne wife laid down the law to her spouse in terms that even he could understand. "No night crawlers will be kept in the refrigerator!"

And the amazing thing is that her grandchildren are all girls, too.

Some growers contract the yield, meaning that they sell them at the price they are the day they contract them. Others will wait and gamble on what the market will do at harvest time. Or there is the third alternative of storing them either at home or the elevator and deciding on a later day to sell.

"Any way you do it," explains Mrs. Ahrndt, "it is a gamble, but then everything about farming is a gamble from the time you sow until you sell. Maybe that is why farmers seldom play the horses or the dogs. They get enough of that at home every day."

Most crossword puzzles may be dreamed up by convicts in prison, but one that found its way into the Dick Lindberg household in Sargent almost precipitated a divorce action — or at least the threat — there. Wife Gwen told about it in the Leader . . .

It was a big Sunday issue one, and she got so interested in unraveling it that it went on and on until she finished, and finish time was "the wee hours of the morning."

The box itself must be of approved construction. The name must be printed in one-inch letters for visibility, and printed on the doors if boxes are grouped. The box has to be securely fastened to its support, must be waterproof and the approach needs to be filled and properly graded at all times.

Nebraska History

North Loup, Neb.

When Nebraska became a commonwealth nearly 100 years ago, it had had a teenage childhood of 13 years as a territory. Congress gave it a limited governmental status in 1854, perhaps as an anti-slavery gesture, when it had a population of about 15,000 roving Indians and an estimated 5,000 transient traders and "river rats" who came by water, largely from St. Louis, to swap trinkets and whisky for hides and furs with the Indians.

The area was an unsurveyed wilderness when the appointed governor came to Omaha with the territorial charter and took over administration for the U.S. Interior Department. There was not an acre of privately owned land. As the country was surveyed gradually from east to west, the government sold land and farming and stock-raising had their beginning by bonafide settlers.

There were scarcely enough intelligent people to make up the first territorial legislature.

The paramount issue throughout the territorial era was to induce population. To this end in 1860 the Homestead Exemption Law was passed to forbid levies or foreclosures for any debts, including taxes. It was publicized widely. The Nebraska City News advised debtors to thumb their noses at creditors, start new and pay their debts when they felt like it. The purpose of homes rather than profit was urged. Agents were sent to Europe to urge immigration from Scandinavia, Germany and Ireland, holding out the fertility of the prairies and the healthful climate, with some results. But population increased slowly. There was some gain after the Homestead Act became effective in 1863 and after the close of the Civil War. But there were probably fewer than 50,000 people in Nebraska when it became a state in 1867.

Future Well-Being

Lincoln, Neb.

I am deeply concerned about the future welfare of our United States of America. When one sees the irresponsible agitation by young rabble-rousers, who for the most part are recipients of some relief program, it is enough to make one wonder who is at the head of this nation.

The one antidote that comes to mind is our late President's admonition: "Ask not what the government can do for you, but what you can do for the government."

I would put this squarely up to every individual who tries to incite dissension in any gathering. There is admittedly much to be desired — certainly long overdue — but to compel immediate action without a workable solution is like being an ostrich and just sticking your head in the ground and hoping for the best.

There is no greater need today than that responsible government heads recognize the enormity of this problem on which our well-being depends, and I'll add the war in Viet Nam.

Credit Buying

Hastings, Neb.

The old cry, "Who's afraid of the big bad wolf?" should be changed to "Who's afraid of a depression?" And the answer is, "They who have not taken good care of their money and credit should stand in fear and trembling at the thought of a depression," while others would be in a very favorable position to buy the properties and goods that others lost by listening to that siren cry, "You don't need money; use your credit!"

In the past, bankers and businessmen in general had their customers believing that "credit creates confidence." The customers who fell for that line found themselves without cash, credit and confidence. The federal government ordered all banks throughout America to close their doors, and not a word was said about credit creating confidence.

Those who are afraid of a depression should consider what has occurred in the past due to excessive credit buying.

State Problems

Lincoln, Neb.

I recently had an opportunity to hear both candidates for governor discuss their positions on state issues, and I was impressed with what appeared to me to be a significant difference between the candidates.

While Phil Sorensen clearly outlined specific programs and demonstrated a detailed knowledge of state government, Nobby Tiemann was able to answer inquiries only with generalities, and did not appear to match Mr. Sorensen's grasp of state problems.

Mr. Sorensen also impressed me as being a man who isn't afraid to say what he is for, even if it might be unpopular with some.

It seems to me that Mr. Sorensen's obvious grasp of our state's problems and perhaps even more important, his apparent willingness to do something about them, would make him an excellent governor.

University Pulls Stops

By WILLLIAM O. DOBLER

The University of Nebraska has pulled out all the stops in its proposed 1967-69 biennial budget, to be acted upon by the Legislature convening this coming January. Through the Board of Regents and university administration, senators will field a request for a 91.48 per cent increase in general or tax fund appropriations. Offhand, an increase of such magnitude would seem to be some kind of record.

A Broad Look At Program

Senators and the people of Nebraska may have varied reactions to the $67,019,893 general fund request by the university. From some quarters will come automatically a cry that the taxpayers cannot absorb such a burden as this. From others will come, just as automatically, a downgrading of the cause of education and an indictment of the university administration. From most, it is hoped, will come a thoughtful consideration of the entire university program. This is essential because of one thing, pointed out in the statement by the Board of Regents.

The board stated that "a moment of truth and crisis has arrived for the University of Nebraska." It is in this light that we must consider what is admittedly a difficult situation. Taxes are already at an all-time high and the narrow tax base on which we operate creates an inequity that compounds the problem. But how do we proceed to better things, to a better state and a better way of life?

When the situation, in this case an economic one, becomes pressing, do we hold on in retreat or do we advance with some sacrifice in anticipation of the returns that can be expected? Do we look for our rewards along the path of least resistance and ease or do we realize that the future belongs to those willing to work for it?

No individual, no locality, no state nor any nation has ever found the fulfillment of aspirations or the realization of potential in following the course of least resistance. Quite the contrary, where progress and satisfaction have been achieved, there lies the wreckage of many conflicts and battles, some of them lost and some of them won but the balance tipped in favor of the latter. This state could take the easy way and slice the university request to ribbons. It could cut the institution back and save millions of dollars but not without paying the penalty. And what would this penalty be? At best it would be a state of mediocrity and at worst it would be a state of total collapse but do not think that the latter could not happen.

We can conceive of no circumstances arising under which the doors of the university would be closed but we can think of circumstances in which disappointed and hardship would prevail and even greater sacrifice than we are now called upon to make would be demanded of us. We can see a situation in which the leading members of the university administration and faculty would depart from Nebraska, in which the physical plant would be totally inadequate and in a state of decay, in which the curriculum would become meaningless and in which our university would, in essence, become an educationally impoverished institution.

If you think this is an exaggeration, it is only because you are not aware of the facts. Such facts, for instance, as our faculty needing a 15 per cent increase in salaries per year just to stay up with regional averages over the next biennium. Such facts, for instance, as the operating budget of the College of Medicine being just half the size of the second lowest such budget of nine medical schools in the Midwest.

Then, there is the fact that since 1961, enrollments have increased more than 80 per cent while appropriations have risen by only 26 per cent. There are other facts in regard to such things as the growing emphasis on research which has a direct bearing on practically all elements of the university.

Time To Step Ahead

There is the reality of industrial concern and intimacy with educational institutions and the fantastic acceleration of all fields of knowledge pursued by men today. The university either reacts to all of these things or it ignores them but it ignores them only at the risk of its very existence. Without increases very close to those proposed by the university regents and administration, the institution they serve would suffer grave consequences. Through years of extreme financial conservatism, we have arrived at the point where further curtailment would be deadly, where a bold step forward is demanded of us.

This university budget is not extravagant, but is aimed only at bringing Nebraska up to a fully competitive level on a regional scale. The people of Nebraska could have been expected to be critical of the board and administration for seeking anything less. The budget proposal marks no dark day in our lives, but rather, is a beacon that lights up our future.

Our Ponderous Achievement

To many, space flight is becoming "old hat." The United States has become a space veteran with many flights totalling 1,733 hours in space. These included a few moments of uncertainty. But there has never been the hint of human tragedy. This is a tremendous record in a strange medium. In itself it is a testimony to U.S. industrial and human skill.

Gemini 11 has just finished an unusually successful flight on the road to successful existence in space. The two astronauts descended comfortably within 1½ miles of exact target bringing with them many more new findings. They ascended one time to 850 miles above the earth, for the first time in human experience, viewing their earth home from that height.

We do not know exactly what constitutes victory in the space race. But we do know at this juncture that the U.S. has had more men in space for almost three times as long as has Russia and that we have contributed more to space knowledge in terms of human capacity than any nation. No one can take that pioneering record away from us.

It is a tremendous age in which we live and we have learned one important lesson. We have tremendous people who can grow into new achievements along with science. There is no discernible limit on human capacity. And that is a very important discovery. And there seems to be no discernible limit on human courage.

The conquest of space is perhaps the most constructive, the most enlightening, the most worthy human expression of all time.

No New Civil Rights

While referred to by its adherents as something else, the filibuster against President Johnson's new civil rights bill appears headed for success. It is now doubtful that Congress will be able to muster a vote on the issue, that it will find itself crowded off the agenda by business with a better prospect of action.

One might ask why or how such a situation could come to pass. Why, at this particular juncture, should a civil rights program find itself floundering on the floor of Congress? It may seem strange because the cause of civil rights is one that has burned hot in our midst in recent years. It has reached the peak of its intensity in a framework of unusual public understanding and sympathy.

But another ingredient has seemed to become a part of things recently—the ingredient of uncertainty. The new proposed civil rights legislation contains at least two titles that are controversial, one having to do with jury selections and the other promoting open occupancy in home sales.

It is not that the American people oppose desegregation in either of these two areas, but the entire civil rights movement has created anxieties of late. It has been found that to guarantee civil rights is one thing but to secure them is another.

From the guarantee to its actual implementation is a step we have found difficulty in taking. It has resulted in violence that has served no useful purpose and created conflicts that never before existed. The American people favor equal rights but the transition to that point should be an evolutionary, not a revolutionary, process. Failure of the new civil rights legislation probably represents a pause for people who want to catch their breath again in a situation whose complexities have confounded them.

The Story Of Wymore

Wymore, which used to be known as the railroad town of southeastern Nebraska, is now becoming known as the tomato capital of Nebraska. This is so because growers there are producing quantities of high grade tomatoes the year around. They are planning a substantial enlargement of their present production facilities.

Like several other towns in the state Wymore has gone in for hydroponic agriculture — a matter of growing crops which never see soil. They grow in nutritious water solutions.

The story of Wymore is interesting, not just because it grows tomatoes the year around. But because it is a town that thinks and works and continues to run strong whatever happens. It was a creature of the Burlington Railroad on the Kansas City-Denver line, built only a mile from the older town of Blue Springs because an early day landowner named Wymore gave the townsite to the railroad which put a depot there and named the place for the donor. And that is not all. The Burlington built substantial shops there and provided the town with most of its population and most of its payroll money. Wymore flourished.

Then real bad news began to come in. The character of railroading changed. Wymore began to lose its importance. One by one the shops were closed. The railroad population declined. The town seemed on its way to a community of empty houses and decayed business streets. The future promised a small sleepy village with nothing but history. Then the depression hit it a second jolt.

But a town that should have languished suddenly began getting well. A group of townsmen went to work. Among them was Ralph Brooks a school man, who was brought in to restore the educational system. Later he became governor of Nebraska. Others did substantial work. Today Wymore is not known for the big trains it serviced and its heavy railroad interest. It is bigger and better than ever and even the scars of its hard years have disappeared.

New Met To Open To Cheering World

NEW YORK — When the elite of New York, starched and diamond-studded, crowd into the Metropolitan's new $45.7 million opera house today (Sept. 16), it will not only make musical history but set some landmarks for racial and international understanding.

Down in Mississippi, the people of that state, both white and black, will be proud of the fact that a Negro girl from the Chisholm plantation near Laurel was picked to sing the star role of Cleopatra for the opening of the Met. Laurel is headquarters for the White Knights of the Ku Klux Klan. But bigotry will be forgotten in Laurel and elsewhere as Leontyne Price opens the new Metropolitan opera house.

And in West Germany, where American bombers knocked out the opera houses of Munich, Frankfurt, Hamburg and Cologne, the German people will get a feeling of satisfaction at the opening of the new opera house in New York. Because their government donated $2,500,000 to make the new Metropolitan possible, the Vice Chancellor Erich Mende, together with such prominent editors as Henri Nannen of Der Stern, is flying the Atlantic for the opening.

In the foyer of the new opera house stands a statue by the German sculptor, Lehmbruck, officially unveiled last week, which bears a plaque reading: "In grateful recognition of the generous gift of the German government."

Austria, which had its famed Vienna opera house knocked into a mass of rubble by American bombers, is contributing the beautiful chandeliers which extend from the dome of the new Met, 23 stories high. And Italy, whose Milan opera house was demolished by American bombers, has contributed marble plates for the Met's interior.

For a little over a year, Miss Price has known that she would play the lead in "Antony and Cleopatra," and she has spent the year working up to the big night. She has read all the books there are on Cleopatra. She rehearsed, rested, and practiced.

"I appreciate the significance of my being chosen for this part," she says. "I'm not going to have this chance again."

Leontyne remembers the Chisholm family which picked her out of a Mississippi church choir and sent her to study at the Juilliard music school. And she knows the struggle her people have had over the years, and the thousands of rooters she has in Mississippi, both white and black. She is not going to let them down.

☆ ☆ ☆

Though the people of Germany and Austria contributed to the new Metropolitan Opera House, it's doubtful that it could have been completed in the same period of time had it not been for the generosity of one New York family — the Rockefellers. John D. Rockefeller, III, grandson and namesake of the founder of the Standard Oil millions, was the mainspring in raising money for the Met, with help from his brother Nelson, the governor of New York.

Japanese Finding A New Identity

TOKYO—The first thing the visiting American should know about the Japanese is that they are a totally different branch of the human species.

We look back to Greece and Rome for just about everything we think and do. But who among us studied Japanese history while we were in school? Nobody. We just don't know what it means for a people to have lived so long without mixing. We, above all people, can't understand total insularity.

There are other factors that separate us. For example, the Japanese have the world's worst language, filled with extreme complexities. Since the war, there has been some effort to teach and encourage English in the schools. But it has been very shallow, most inadequate.

We should try to understand, too, what it mean to the Japanese psyche to have been defeated and occupied. It was devastating to the Japanese temperament. Gen. Douglas MacArthur and his people did an able job of restoring the economy, in fact, it has been a miraculous comeback. But the Japanese sought for something else. They searched for a new identity.

Nothing of the past would suffice. The children grew up to hate their elders for letting themselves be led into a war they couldn't win, one which could only destroy them. Patriotism became a bad word.

Then they found the new national image they sought. They found it in the Olympic games of '64. They, the Japanese, were hosts to the nations of the whole world. That did it, even more than the economic miracle that had made them the envy of the world.

☆ ☆ ☆

Japan is getting along fine with its neighbors, who once hated it. The anti-Japanese feeling in South Korea has dissolved under Japan's economic aid and Japan has loaned Nationalist China $150 million, and has contributed as much as the U.S. has to the Asian Development Bank, $200 million. Trade back and forth with Red China came to $470 million last year. Red China is now Japan's fifth biggest customer: U.S., U. S. S. R. Philippines and Canada take precedence. But perhaps not for long. Mao's people — some 700,000,000 of them — need everything Japan makes, and if they want something today that Japan doesn't have, the Japanese will make it for them tomorrow.

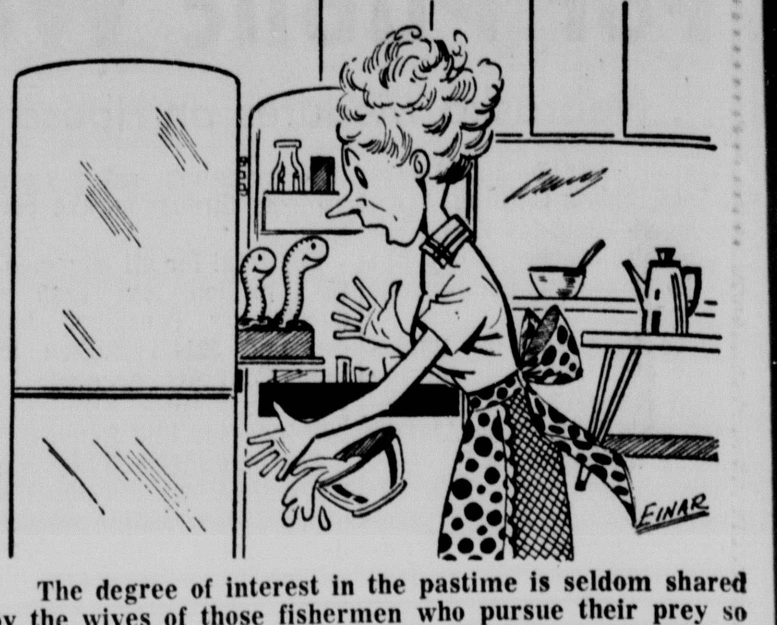
Farming One Long Gamble

By MONA B. PARKER



The degree of interest in the pastime is seldom shared by the wives of those fishermen who pursue their prey so enthusiastically. And especially does the little women take a dim view of the situation when equipment or anything else pertinent thereto starts to interfere with her own work area, namely, the home in general, and the kitchen in particular. One such Wayne wife laid down the law to her spouse in terms that even he could understand. "No night crawlers will be kept in the refrigerator!"

J. C. Crosland of Mullen was feeling a mite pensive, in the Hooker County Tribune . . .

It's that time of year, he muses, when he wonders what has become of the summer's wages and whether "we have fattened up enough to get through winter."

Winter schedules for this and that are showing up, "days are getting short enough so we'll soon be coming to work in the dark and home under the same conditions, and will see the sun only through dirty office windows."

He compares this quiet time of year to twilight of the average day, a period of wondering what has been accomplished, and a looking forward to a new day ahead.

George Miller of Papillion didn't mind saying right out that their household was just too quiet, with three small ones away visiting grandparents.

"Two adults gazed at each other and made conversation without competition. Mealtimes passed quickly and quietly. As their vacation started, we wondered how the trio would make out away from home. But as the week wore on, we were just as concerned with how the adults at home would last until the disruptive factors returned . . . Such large doses of peace and quiet were almost too much . . . We hope the three returnees were just as glad to see us at vacation's end as we were to see them."

G. E. R. Wechter of the Stanton Register is a grandmother who enjoys her role to the fullest. Her imaginary role isn't always Grandma, either. Many times it's the bad guy, commanded to "Drop it, Hombre, and reach!" while a plastic gun is poked in her ribs.

"I'll tell you this," she writes, "it isn't safe to grow old and slow around these parts!"

And the amazing thing is that her grandchildren are all girls, too.

Some growers contract the yield, meaning that they sell them at the price they are the day they contract them. Others will wait and gamble on what the market will do at harvest time. Or there is the third alternative of storing them either at home or the elevator and deciding on a later day to sell.

"Any way you do it," explains Mrs. Ahrndt, "it is a gamble, but then everything about farming is a gamble from the time you sow until you sell. Maybe that is why farmers seldom play the horses or the dogs. They get enough of that at home every day."

The box itself must be of approved construction. The name must be printed in one-inch letters for visibility, and printed on the doors if boxes are grouped. The box has to be securely fastened to its support, must be waterproof and the approach needs to be filled and properly graded at all times.

Nebraska History

North Loup, Neb.

When Nebraska became a commonwealth nearly 100 years ago, it had had a teenage childhood of 13 years as a territory. Congress gave it a limited governmental status in 1854, perhaps as an anti-slavery gesture, when it had a population of about 15,000 roving Indians and an estimated 5,000 transient traders and "river rats" who came by water, largely from St. Louis, to swap trinkets and whisky for hides and furs with the Indians.

The area was an unsurveyed wilderness when the appointed governor came to Omaha with the territorial charter and took over administration for the U.S. Interior Department. There was not an acre of privately owned land. As the country was surveyed gradually from east to west, the government sold land and farming and stock-raising had their beginning by bonafide settlers.

There were scarcely enough intelligent people to make up the first territorial legislature.

The paramount issue throughout the territorial era was to induce population. To this end in 1860 the Homestead Exemption Law was passed to forbid levies or foreclosures for any debts, including taxes. It was publicized widely. The Nebraska City News advised debtors to thumb their noses at creditors, start new and pay their debts when they felt like it. The purpose of homes rather than profit was urged. Agents were sent to Europe to urge immigration from Scandinavia, Germany and Ireland, holding out the fertility of the prairies and the healthful climate, with some results. But population increased slowly. There was some gain after the Homestead Act became effective in 1863 and after the close of the Civil War. But there were probably fewer than 50,000 people in Nebraska when it became a state in 1867.

Future Well-Being

Lincoln, Neb.

I am deeply concerned about the future welfare of our United States of America. When one sees the irresponsible agitation by young rabble-rousers, who for the most part are recipients of some relief program, it is enough to make one wonder who is at the head of this nation.

The one antidote that comes to mind is our late President's admonition: "Ask not what the government can do for you, but what you can do for the government."

I would put this squarely up to every individual who tries to incite dissension in any gathering. There is admittedly much to be desired — certainly long overdue — but to compel immediate action without a workable solution is like being an ostrich and just sticking your head in the ground and hoping for the best.

There is no greater need today than that responsible government heads recognize the enormity of this problem on which our well-being depends, and I'll add the war in Viet Nam.

Credit Buying

Hastings, Neb.

The old cry, "Who's afraid of the big bad wolf?" should be changed to "Who's afraid of a depression?" And the answer is, "They who have not taken good care of their money and credit should stand in fear and trembling at the thought of a depression," while others would be in a very favorable position to buy the properties and goods that others lost by listening to that siren cry, "You don't need money; use your credit!"

In the past, bankers and businessmen in general had their customers believing that "credit creates confidence." The customers who fell for that line found themselves without cash, credit and confidence. The federal government ordered all banks throughout America to close their doors, and not a word was said about credit creating confidence.

Those who are afraid of a depression should consider what has occurred in the past due to excessive credit buying.

Demo Chief Would Accept Re-Election

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Democratic State Chairman John Mitchell of Kearney announced Thursday that he is willing to accept another two-year term as party leader if delegates to the state convention so wish.

Democrats will hold their convention in Lincoln Sunday.

"Although I will not actively seek the chairmanship of the Democratic Party, nor do I announce my candidacy for such, should the nominating committee at the state convention choose to submit my name and the delegates elect me, I will be willing to serve to the best of my ability," Mitchell said.

The Kearney attorney is expected to be re-elected without opposition. Mitchell has served as state chairman since 1964.

Mitchell said he has been "thrilled by the tremendous advances that Nebraska has made under the Morrison administration and the outstanding teamwork that has been displayed by Governor Morrison, Lt. Gov. Phillip Sorensen and Congressman Clair Callan."

Their performance "has given Nebraskans a real sense of pride and enthusiasm," Mitchell said.

"I believe that it would be a disastrous blow to the state and to its people not to capitalize on the abilities and experience that these men have."

Mitchell said "the real issue in the campaign is how can Nebraska be best promoted," and this could best be accomplished with "proper Democratic representation in Washington from Nebraska and Phil Sorensen in the governor's chair."

His efforts as state chairman "have been devoted to making Nebraska a two-party state," Mitchell said.

"That can only be accomplished by a resounding victory for the Democratic ticket in Nebraska this November.

"For we have presented candidates worthy of support by both Democrats and Republicans alike."

The convention will begin at Pershing Auditorium at 9 a.m., Sunday and will feature addresses by Morrison, Sorensen, Callan and other Democratic nominees.

Holmes Park Grant Gets Interior OK

A $63,400 grant from the land and water conservation fund has been approved as the federal share for recreational development of Holmes Park in Lincoln.

The federal share to the State Game Commission represents one half of the development costs, with the remaining half to be shared by the state and the municipal governments.

Approval of the grant by the Interior Department was reported in Washington Thursday afternoon by the office of Rep. Clair A. Callan, D-Neb.

Plans for Holmes Park development include road construction, parking areas, shelters, bridal paths and lighting, in addition to the planting of trees and shrubs.

New York City Sanitation Attacks Illegal Parking

New York (AP)—City Sanitation Department trucks hauled 114 illegally parked autos out of midtown Manhattan Wednesday and 1,500 others were ticketed.

Police Commissioner Howard R. Leary said the crackdown would continue because the "center of Manhattan is being strangled by illegally parked cars."

To get back the towed-away cars, motorists had to go to a Hudson River pier, pay a $25 towing charge, a $10 or $14 fine and a $5 storage charge.

Man Of 'Swamp Gas' Fame Urges Serious UFO Probe

Chicago (UPI)—A prominent astronomer has criticized the American scientific establishment for failing to investigate persistent reports of unidentified flying objects (UFO) despite the fact that sightings of many "flying saucers" remain unexplained.

Dr. J. Allen Hynek, chairman of Northwestern University's astronomy department and a consultant to the Air Force on UFO's, said science has taken no notice of the "persistent and disturbing phenomenon" of unidentified flying objects.

In a letter to Science magazine, Hynek called for a scientific investigation to dispel "20 years of confusion."

Hynek, the country's recognized leading authority on UFO's, has studied hundreds of reports of unusual flying objects. Many have been misidentifications of natural events, he said. He pointed to a rash of UFO sighting reports in Michigan this year which he thought resulted from swamp gas

But from many reports of "strong credibility," Hynek has concluded that there is "something going on."

He said 20th Century science suffers from a kind of "provincialism." The attitude of science toward UFO's today parallels the attitude of men toward meteorites 150 years ago, when science joked about "stones that fell from the sky," he said

"There is a tendency to forget there will be a 21st century science and a 30th-century science," Hynek said.

Natural Phenomena

Many UFO sightings can be explained as natural phenomena, Hynek said, but a sizeable number contribute to the ever-growing mystery of defying explanation.

Hynek said it was a fallacy to assume that all UFO reports were the work of "hysterics or crackpots or cranks," or the product of uneducated or unrealiable people.

Most reports come from stable and well-educated people, he said,and only a small number from "true believers"—the cultists for whom "flying saucers" are a kind of spiritual phenomena.

Some of the most startling reports of UFOs have come from trained scientists, Hynek said, and many UFO's have been seen clearly at close range.

Sierra Club Claims IRS Opposition

San Francisco (UPI)—The Sierra Club is losing $5,000 a week in contributions because of the Internal Revenue Service's efforts "To shut us up," the club's executive director said Thursday.

David Brower said the federal agency's announcement June 10 it was investigating the conservationist club's tax deductible status had "effectively cut off large donations."

Brower told a news conference that the IRS' apparent motive was that it "didn't want opposition to programs that a strong government agency wanted to go through. "As a result, "pressure was brought to bear to shut us up "

IRS said the organization's status was in question because of newspaper ads it ran opposing construction of two dams in the Grand Canyon area.

Contributions to the club are tax-exempt.

Brower announced he had written Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler, requesting a conference with the IRS to determine its position. He said the IRS had promised in June to make its position clear within four weeks.

"Instead they have already taken more than three months and the victim is beginning to turn blue."

Brower said he felt the Internal Revenue Service had relaxed its response because of embarrassment.

Watkins Accepts United's Award In Air Education

Washington (AP)—The University Aviation Association presented its top award for achievement in aviation education Thursday to Phillip Hopkins, former director of the Smithsonian National Air Museum, now living in retirement at Longview, Wash.

Alfa Eta Rho, intercollegiate flying fraternity, presented its annual award at tht association's dinner meeting here to a retired Air Force major general, John B. Montgomery, now president of the Marquardt Corporation, Van Nuys, Calif. Montgomery, former commander of the 8th Air Force and a former vice president of American Airlines, was honored for his support of collegiate flying activities.

Curtis: U.S. Threatened From Within

"Although it must remain strong militarily to defend against outside forces, America faces its greatest threat today from within, "Sen. Carl Curtis, R-Neb., said here Thursday night.

"This threat involves the broad question of what are the responsibilities of individuals, families, localities, states and the federal government," he told the members of the American Academy of General Practice meeting here.

"There are certain responsibilities that must be borne by each of these entities."

The Republican lawmaker said he freely admits that responsibilities which must be borne by the federal government are greater today than ever before.

"This fact, however, does not justify the turning to Washington for the solution of every problem and the loading of every responsibility on that wind of good and generous man known as Uncle Sam," he said.

Curtis said the time to fight the unnecessary expansion of government activities is before programs are established — not after the people have come to depend on them.

Man Of 'Swamp Gas' Fame Urges Serious UFO Probe

Chicago (UPI)—A prominent astronomer has criticized the American scientific establishment for failing to investigate persistent reports of unidentified flying objects (UFO) despite the fact that sightings of many "flying saucers" remain unexplained.

Dr. J. Allen Hynek, chairman of Northwestern University's astonomy department and a consultant to the Air Force on UFO's, said science has taken no notice of the "persistent and disturbing phenomenon" of unidentified flying objects.

In a letter to Science magazine, Hynek called for a scientific investigation to dispel "20 years of confusion."

Hynek, the country's recognized leading authority on UFO's, has studied hundreds of reports of unusual flying objects. Many have been misidentifications of natur l events, he said. He pointed to a rash of UFO sighting reports in Michigan this year which he thought resulted from swamp gas.

But from many reports of "strong credibility," Hynek has concluded that there is "something going on."

He said 20th Century science suffers from a kind of "provincialism." The attitude of science toward UFO's today parallels the attitude of men toward meteorites 150 years ago, when science joked about "stones that fell from the sky," he said

"There is a tendency to forget there will be a 21st century science and a 30th-century science," Hynek said.

Natural Phenomena

Many UFO sightings can be explained as natural phenomena, Hynek said, but a sizeable number contribute to the ever-growing mystery of defying explanation.

Hynek said it was a fallacy to assume that all UFO reports were the work of "hysterics or crackpots or cranks," or the product of uneducated or unrealiable people.

Most reports come from stable and well-educated people, he said,and only a small number from "true believers"—the cultists for whom "flying saucers" are a kind of spiritual phenomena.

Some of the most startling reports of UFOs have come from trained scientists, Hynek said, and many UFO's have been seen clearly at close range.

Sierra Club Claims IRS Opposition

San Francisco (UPI)—The Sierra Club is losing $5,000 a week in contributions because of the Internal Revenue Service's efforts "To shut us up," the club's executive director said Thursday.

David Brower said the federal agency's announcement June 10 it was investigating the conservationist club's tax deductible status had "effectively cut off large donations."

Brower told a news conference that the IRS' apparent motive was that it "didn't want opposition to programs that a strong government agency wanted to go through. "As a result, "pressure was brought to bear to shut us up."

IRS said the organization's status was in question because of newspaper ads it ran opposing construction of two dams in the Grand Canyon area.

Contributions to the club are tax-exempt.

Brower announced he had written Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler, requesting a conference with the IRS to determine its position. He said the IRS had promised in June to make its position clear within four weeks.

"Instead they have already taken more than three months and the victim is beginning to turn blue."

Brower said he felt the Internal Revenue Service had relaxed its response because of embarrassment.

News Conference Set

Washington (UPI) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk will hold a news conference Friday, the State Department announced.

111 MEN PLEDGED BY NWU FRATERNITIES

Fraternity rush at Nebraska Wesleyan University was climaxed Thursday with 111 men preferencing five fraternities.

Dean of men Milton Evans said 37 men preferenced Phi Kappa Tau, 31 preferenced Theta Chi, 23 pledged Zeta Psi, 14 pledged Tau Kappa Epsilon and 6 preferenced Phi Sigma Rho, a new local fraternity at NWU.

Dr. Evans said two students, Dave Griffin and Mel Hamlett, semester exchange students from Lane College, were accepted by Zeta Psi and Phi Sigma Rho, respectively, as social affiliates.

Watkins Accepts United's Award In Air Education

Washington (AP)—The University Aviation Association presented its top award for achievement in aviation education Thursday to Phillip Hopkins, former director of the Smithsonian National Air Museum, now living in retirement at Longview, Wash.

Alfa Eta Rho, intercollegiate flying fraternity, presented its annual award at tht association's dinner meeting here to a retired Air Force major general, John B. Montgomery, now president of the Marquardt Corporation, Van Nuys, Calif. Montgomery, former commander of the 8th Air Force and a former vice president of American Airlines, was honored for his support of collegiate flying activities.

Curtis: U.S. Threatened From Within

"Although it must remain strong militarily to defend against outside forces, America faces its greatest threat today from within, "Sen. Carl Curtis, R-Neb., said here Thursday night.

"This threat involves the broad question of what are the responsibilities of individuals, families, localities, states and the federal government," he told the members of the American Academy of General Practice meeting here.

"There are certain responsibilities that must be borne by each of these entities."

The Republican lawmaker said he freely admits that responsibilities which must be borne by the federal government are greater today than ever before.

"This fact, however, does not justify the turning to Washington for the solution of every problem and the loading of every responsibility on that wind of good and generous man known as Uncle Sam," he said.

Curtis said the time to fight the unnecessary expansion of government activities is before programs are established — not after the people have come to depend on them.

Bids Opened On Nebraska Road Projects

The State Roads Department Thursday opened bids on $5.2 million of highway construction projects

The bids will be reviewed and contracts awarded Friday.

Included in the batch are four Interstate 80 projects estimated to cost $2 million and four federal aid primary road work plans costing $1 million.

The department said it would ask bids on 13.3 miles of grading, gravel surfacing and four bridges in Keith and Lincoln counties between the Sutherland and Paxton Interchanges.

The same work was eliminated from last month's bidding after a problem arose in connection with a property line along the Platte River. It has been settled.

The department said it plans to erect picnic shelters, public rest rooms and other roadside improvements in Seward County along the Interstate east of Goehner.

Johnson Okays Interstate Funds Through 1969

Washington (UPI) —Presidnet Johnson signed into law a $9 billion program to construction of high-speed interstate highways through 1969.

Under the program, the funds authorized would be used for building of the Interstate highway network first started during the administration of President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The federal government pays 90% of the construction costs with states making up the balance. The program is financed with gasoline and other highway-user taxes which are placed in the Federal Highway Trust Fund.

Safety Officials Urge Life-Saving State Plan

By Associated Press

Two National Safety Council officials Thursday proposed a traffic safety program which they said would drastically reduce bloodshed on Nebraska's highways and streets.

The program includes legislation to require, among other things, periodic driver license re-examinations, mandatory vehicle safety inspections and uniform traffic signs and signals throughout the state.

The officials, Regional Director Norman Olman of Chicago and District Director E. R. Nelson of Sioux Falls, S.D., also called for strengthening of the State Safety Patrol and increased traffic safety promotion by state government.

The recommendations were presented at a luncheon meeting attended by state officials and representatives of the Nebraska Safety Council.

Three-Day Study

The two national officials completed a three-day study of Nebraska's 1965 traffic safety activities this week.

Nelson noted that the new federal highway safety act requires each state to implement a comprehensive traffic safety program or lose 10% of the state's federal highway aid and future traffic safety bonuses.

According to Motor Vehicles Director James Dunlevey, Nebraska's failure to enact such a program would cost the state about $3.2 million annually in federal highway dollars.

Tom Ryan, chief of the State Accident Records Bureau, said the federal legislation and a new "safety awareness" among Nebraskans lead him to believe the 1967 Legislature will enact major laws to curb deaths and injuries on the state's roads.

The 1965 Legislature rejected a number of traffic safety bills, including measures to establish driver license re-examination and vehicle inspection programs, but Ryan said a majority of Nebraskans now favor such laws.

Recommendations

Other recommendations of the national officials included:

—More state-level technical assistance to cities and counties for meeting local traffic safety problems.

—A Nebraska vehicle code conforming substantially with the national uniform vehicle code, and a "model traffic ordinance" to be used as a guide for political subdivisions.

—Review of salaries and working schedules for state safety patrolmen with an eye to making the force more effective in traffic safety.

—At least one college safety center.

—More state-level research into the causes of Nebraska accidents, and a better system of reporting circumstances surrounding accidents.

—Mandatory completion of an approved driver education course for driver license applicants under 18 years of age.

Lincoln Man Fined $250 In Fatal Mishap

A Lincoln man was fined $250 in Lancaster District Court Thursday on a leaving the scene of an accident charge filed in connection with an April 9 bicycle-car accident in which a 13-year-old boy was killed.

Lancaster District Judge Herbert Ronin fined Leonard Johnson, 44, of 1611 So. 7th, who had pleaded nolo contendere and was found guilty of the charge Aug. 30.

The youth, Stanley Sundling, of 3845 So. First, was struck and killed as he was riding his bicycle on Park Blvd. just south of the Humane Society.

Johnson, accompanied by his attorney, T. Clement Gaughan, turned himself in to authorities the day after the accident.

36 Of 48 Republican Pros Answering Poll Think Nixon Will Be '68 Nominee

By HAL COOPER

New York (AP)—Most Republican pros willing to stand up and be counted now think former Vice President Richard M. Nixon will be their presidential nominee in 1968.

Of 48 state chairmen and national committeemen who expressed positive views in an Associated Press poll, 36 said Nixon, the unsuccessful nominee in 1960, would be nominated. Another 12 predicted the choice would be Gov. George Romney of Michigan.

Among those who hedged their replies, four said it would be either Nixon or Romney, one said either Nixon or Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky and three guessed Nixon, Romney or actor Ronald Reagan, now running for governor of California.

5 Prefer Other Men

Of those who thought the nomination of Nixon likely, five said they would personally prefer somebody else and nine declined to say whether Nixon was their first choice.

Typical of the views expressed by all-out Nixon supporters was that of Virginia State Chairman Robert J. Corber Jr.:

"I believe Mr. Nixon is going to be our nominee. Mr. Nixon is also my preference at this time because he's done the best job of keeping his name before the public."

A national committeeman in an Eastern state who declined to permit use of his name commented:

"I'm very much afraid it will be Nixon, although I would prefer otherwise. Of the potential other candidates, Romney seems to be the leader. But it looks as if Nixon will get the benefit of (Barry) Goldwater's organization."

Goldwater, who lost to President Johnson two years ago, has said he thinks Nixon has the "best equipment" to defeat Johnson in 1968.

A western committeeman said he thought Nixon would be nominated, although his personal preference would be Gerald Ford of Michigan, House minority leader.

'Well Ahead'

Committeeman Robert Pierce of Wisconsin said Nixon was substantially ahead of all rivals now.

Committeeman William S. Powers of Colorado, once a supporter of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York for the nomination, said Romney had a good chance and that possible outsiders were Gov. Mark Hatfield of Oregon (a candidate for the Senate in November), Gov. John A. Love of Colorado and Charles Percy, the Republican nominee for governor of Illinois.

State Chairman Richard Richards of Utah said Romney, a Mormon, "would do more, I think, for the Republican ticket in Mormon Utah —but I would probably find myself more in agreement with Nixon's philosophy."

State Committeewoman Mrs. A. Edward Smith of Georgia said:

National Committeewoman Mrs. F. C. Braden of Arizona thought Nixon would win but "Romney is coming on strong."

Smith Mentions Morton

The name of Sen. Morton was mentioned by Illinois State Republican Chairman Victor Smith.

Timothy Sheehan, chairman of the Republican Central Committee of Cook County (Chicago), had this to say:

"The nomination is between Romney and Nixon — there isn't much question about this. But there is a dark horse in the background and that is Mr. Reagan in California."

A predictable Romney enthusiast was Michigan National Committeeman John B. Martin Jr.

National Committeeman Perkins Bass of New Hampshire said his list of possibles included Rockefeller, Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York City, Nixon, Romney, Reagan and Henry Cabot Lodge, ambassador to South Viet Nam.

Bass also mentioned Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, who lost the 1964 nomination to Goldwater, but Scranton recently declared that he never again will run for any public office.

'Banana Split' May Triumph Over Bikini

London (AP) — The designer of a way-out new suit for sunning and swimming offered some delicious evidence in favor of the banana split, a brief little garment that peels down the middle.

The evidence consisted of a shapely model exposing lots of bare skin while wearing the banana split.

By un-zipping a zipper — which started at her bosom and ended six inches below her waist — the model generated gasps from the audience viewing bathing suits for next summer, offered by a Swedish manuafcturer.

Jean Rook, fashion expert for the Sun, said "It could put the bikini out of business if only because no chap is going to settle for the horizontal bit of a girl exposed by a bikini when he could have a vertical bit of a girl like this."

NU Budget Request Reflects 'Crisis'

By LUCILLE HUTCHINSON
Star Staff Writer

Regent B. N. Greenberg said the University of Nebraska's record request for a $98,562,406 operating budget for the 1967-69 biennium reflects a "crisis" in its instructional program.

Greenberg said the budget represents an attempt to finally begin plans that will "pay tremendous dividends."

The record budget, seeking $67,019,893 in state subsidy funds—91.48% more than the 1965-67 appropriation, is the NU Board of Regents' attempt to "catch up and keep up" with universities of similar size and purpose, Greenburg said.

Within the $37,434,986 increase of budget requests over the last two-year period are funds that will enable hiring of some 258 faculty persons, provide faculty salary increases to raise the wage scale to comparable institutions and substantially improve instructional programs.

The budget requests are based on anticipated enrollments of some 19,200 students in the fall of 1967 and 20,600 in the fall of 1968, according to Chancellor Clifford Hardin.

Any material change in enrollment estimates would necessitate recalculation of needs, he emphasized.

Greenburg, noting that since 1961 enrollments have increased more than 80% while appropriations have risen by only 26%, praised the University for "accomplishing "an amazing job of assimilaitng and serving a great increase in numbers of students while struggling desperately to maintain the quality of instruction to which Nebraska students are entitled."

"Another biennium of emergency, make-do operation," he warned, will damage the University to such an extent that it may be unable to regain stature ànd momentum at any time in the foreseeable future."

"We are determined that Nebraska shall understand both the urgency and the opportunities involved," he said, speaking for the Board of Regents.

Moment Of Truth

"We shall have no quarrel with the decision Nebraska makes but we shall be sadly disappointed if Nebraska fails to understand that a moment of truth and crisis has arrived for the University of Nebraska. If this is understood, we are confident that Nebraska will provide for the financial needs of its University."

The two-year budget requests, asking for $6.9 million more than last time for increased salaries, would provide nearly a 15% increase per year during the next biennium, Chancellor Hardin pointed out.

About five percent salary increases per year would be provided for the professional managerial and classified staff.

In an attempt to decrease the average student credit hour production required of each faculty member from the 521.5 per teacher average recorded in 1965-66 to a "more desirable" 485 average, the budget provides funds to hire 168 full-time or equivalent personnel the first year and 90 the second year.

A total of 65 faculty persons would be added to the College of Medicine over the next two years, according to the budget requests, and 26 research and extension assistants would be added to the College of Agriculture in the biennium.

Defending the large increases for the department of engineering, Hardin indicated that Nebraska ranks lowest in the Midwest in engineering research and also lost out in the race for the Atomic Energy Commission proton accelerator.

"If we are ever going to move, maybe we better get started," the chancellor declared.

"We know there are things the University can do in helping industry in the state that will pay tremendous dividends if we are permitted to move," Regent Greenberg added.

The University Regents delivered the 164-page detailed budget to Governor Frank Morrison and the Department of Administrative Services Thursday morning.

A budget request for capital improvements is expected to be completed in the next four weeks, according to Vice Chancellor Joseph Soshnik.

Candidates Want Close Budget Look

Candidates for governor commented Thursday on the University of Nebraska's 1967-69 budget proposals.

Republican Norbert T. Tiemann said "the big surprise is the enormity" of the budget.

"Before I could make any sound judgment, I would want to go over every item with the administration.

"Of course, there are some things in the increases which are beyond control — much larger enrollments, the need to have competitive salaries, the necessity for an expanded research program.

"But the big reason for the increase is the failure of the executive over the past three bienniums to lead the way for the kind of a university budget so a catch-up now wouldn't be necessary."

Said Democrat Philip C. Sorensen:

"We have all been aware for some time that the continuing pressure of increasing enrollment and national competition for qualified faculty have been causing severe difficulties for the university.

"The proposed budget undoubtedly reflects those difficulties.

"We will want to look closely at the details of the budget when it is available, but I believe all of us want to continue the long tradition of excellence at our state university.

Sorensen Pushes Homestead Tax Credit Proposal

Omaha—Lt. Gov. Philip Sorensen Thursday stressed the need for a homestead tax credit plan for older citizens at a meeting of the Nebraska Nursing Home Association.

More than 90% of the 175,000 Nebraskans who are over 65 live in their own homes," the Democratic gubernatorial nominee said.

"Far too many of these older Nebraskans have found that they are unable on their retirement incomes to meet the sky-rocketing taxes," he declared.

Byproducts Of Medicare Praised

"Medicare has begun to make doctors and hospital administrators work more closely together, a wonderful byproduct of the law," long term care unit officials were told here Thursday.

Dr. Harold N. Willard, director of the Chronic Care and Rehabilitation division of Thayer Hospital in Waterville, Me., predicted closer doctor-patient relationships as a result of Medicare in remarks to the Nebraska Hospital Association's Council on Long Term Care Units.

Closer relationships between a patient and doctor was one of the needs of the long term patient outlined by Willard.

The Maine hospital director also noted that Medicare tells a community to respond. The law provides the money but the community must provide the service, he declared.

"The community has the responsibility for reacting to national legislation or else a civil servant will be sent from Washington to be a czar of medical affairs. I don't think you want that," he added.

Another need of the long term patient discussed by Willard was "giving the patient the responsibility for his own health." He also mentioned the urgent necessity of stimulating preventive medicine on the part of the public, speculating that perhaps the training of preventive medicine should be a responsibility of departments of health.

The 35 hospital officials in attendance also were told that a natural history of a disease and a patient's adaptation to his disease are extremely important in long term care offered by hospital units.

NU Budget Request Reflects 'Crisis'

By LUCILLE HUTCHINSON
Star Staff Wriher

Regent B. N. Greenberg said the University of Nebraska's record request for a $98,562,406 operating budget for the 1967-69 biennium reflects a "crisis" in its instructional program.

Greenberg said the budget represents an attempt to finally begin plans that will "pay tremendous dividends."

The record budget, seeking $67,019,893 in state subsidy funds—91.48% more than the 1965-67 appropriation, is the NU Board of Regents' attempt to "catch up and keep up" with universities of similar size and purpose, Greenburg said.

Within the $37,434,986 increase of budget requests over the last two-year period are funds that will enable hiring of some 258 faculty persons, provide faculty salary increases to raise the wage scale to comparable institutions and substantially improve instructional programs.

The budget requests are based on anticipated enrollments of some 19,200 students in the fall of 1967 and 20,600 in the fall of 1968, according to Chancellor Clifford Hardin.

Any material change in enrollment estimates would necessitate recalculation of needs, he emphasized.

Greenburg, noting that since 1961 enrollments have increased more than 80% while appropriations have risen by only 26%, praised the University for "accomplishing "an amazing job of assimilaitng and serving a great increase in numbers of students while struggling desperately to maintain the quality of instruction to which Nebraska students are entitled."

"Another biennium of emergency, make-do operation," he warned, will damage the University to such an extent that it may be unable to regain stature and momentum at any time in the foreseeable future."

"We are determined that Nebraska shall understand both the urgency and the opportunities involved," he said, speaking for the Board of Regents.

Moment Of Truth

"We shall have no quarrel with the decision Nebraska makes but we shall be sadly disappointed if Nebraska fails to understand that a moment of truth and crisis has arrived for the University of Nebraska. If this is understood, we are confident that Nebraska will provide for the financial needs of its University."

The two-year budget requests, asking for $6.9 million more than last time for increased salaries, would provide nearly a 15% increase per year during the next biennium, Chancellor Hardin pointed out.

About five percent salary increases per year would be provided for the professional managerial and classified staff.

In an attempt to decrease the average student credit hour production required of each faculty member from the 521.5 per teacher average recorded in 1965-66 to a "more desirable" 485 average, the budget provides funds to hire 168 full-time or equivalent personnel the first year and 90 the second year.

A total of 65 faculty persons would be added to the College of Medicine over the next two years, according to the budget requests, and 26 research and extension assistants would be added to the College of Agriculture in the biennium.

Defending the large increases for the department of engineering, Hardin indicated that Nebraska ranks lowest in the Midwest in engineering research and also lost out in the race for the Atomic Energy Commission proton accelerator.

"If we are ever going to move, maybe we better get started," the chancellor declared.

"We know there are things the University can do in helping industry in the state that will pay tremendous dividends if we are permitted to move," Regent Greenberg added.

The University Regents delivered the 164-page detailed budget to Governor Frank Morrison and the Department of Administrative Services Thursday morning.

A budget request for capital improvements is expected to be completed in the next four weeks, according to Vice Chancellor Joseph Soshnik.

Candidates Want Close Budget Look

Candidates for governor commented Thursday on the University of Nebraska's 1967-69 budget proposals.

Republican Norbert T. Tiemann said "the big surprise is the enormity" of the budget.

"Before I could make any sound judgment, I would want to go over every item with the administration.

"Of course, there are some things in the increases which are beyond control — much larger enrollments, the need to have competitive salaries, the necessity for an expanded research program.

"But the big reason for the increase is the failure of the executive over the past three bienniums to lead the way for the kind of a university budget so a catch-up now wouldn't be necessary."

Said Democrat Philip C. Sorensen:

"We have all been aware for some time that the continuing pressure of increasing enrollment and national competition for qualified faculty have been causing severe difficulties for the university.

"The proposed budget undoubtedly reflects those difficulties.

"We will want to look closely at the details of the budget when it is available, but I believe all of us want to continue the long tradition of excellence at our state university.

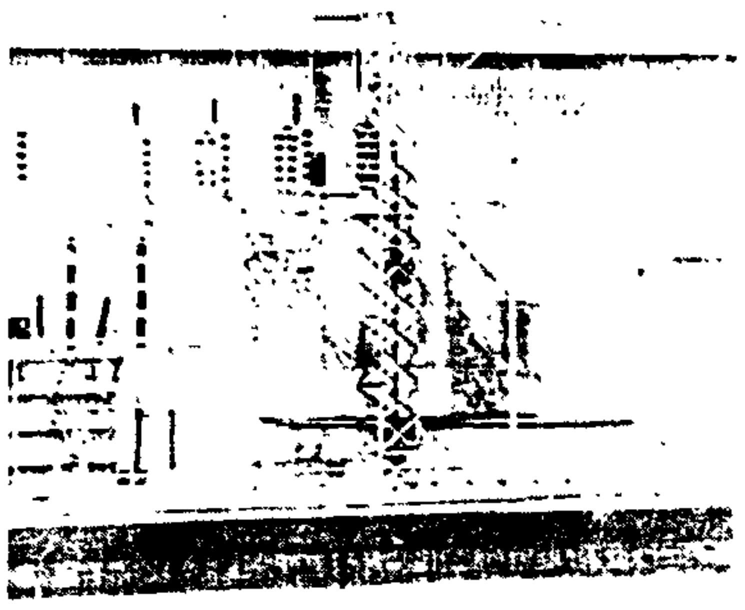
Rusk: U.S. Must Be Firm

BIG BEND DAM IS DEDICATED



Fort Thompson, S.D. (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Thursday the United States must act with firmness in the Viet Nam war "without sliding down the slippery slope to a greater confrontation."

Rusk spoke at dedication ceremonies at the $103 million Big Bend Dam, last of a chain of six large dams authorized for the sprawling Missouri River.

Rusk told the crowd of dignitaries and onlookers that the role of the U.S. in Viet Nam does not mean this country has been appointed "policeman of the world." He added:

"But our role does mean we have a substantial part to play in building the peace."

Hitler Parallel

He drew a parallel with the current struggle against communism in the Far East with Germany under Hitler before World War II. "There were people who thought Hitler would be satisfied with just one more bite," he declared. "It's tragic that force should still be necessary, but we dare not let aggression move beyond control."

The secretary noted that the United Nations was formed as a part of the rebuilding after World War II. But, he said, there would be no chance to rebuild from a third world war.

Rusk said President Johnson had made dozens of attempts through emissaries consulting in worldwide capitals to bring a halt to the Viet Nam war. But he said the communist capitals of Peking, China and Hanoi in North Viet Nam had spurned all these efforts.

He said that once the Reds give up trying to take over South Viet Nam by force, peace can be restored very quickly.

Boe On Hand

A number of other state and national officials were on hand for the ceremonies here in cloudy, 60-degree weather, including South Dakota Gov. Nils Boe.

Boe said that the dam fills another vital role in development of the plains states and added that a "treasure of gold" flows through South Dakota.

The cost of the five dams, excluding Fort Peck in Montana, which preceded the Pick-Sloan program, is nearly $1 billion.

Cooperative Will Dedicate Big Lignite Coal Power Plant

The plant is the largest in the Western Hemisphere to burn lignite coal, and it is the first plant of a giant power complex predicted for the lignite fields of North Dakota.

Alex Rdain, manager of the American Public Power Association and a close friend of the late Leland Olds after whom the plant was named, will give the dedicatory address.

Norman Clapp, Rural Electrification administrator, will give the major address.

Also speaking will be North Dakota Sen Milton Young and Quentin Burdick, North Dakota Gov William L. Guy, and North Dakota West District Congressman Rolland Redlin.

One of the major speeches will be by assistant secretary of the interior for water and power, Kenneth Holum

Ceremonies will begin at 1:30 p.m. on the west side of the plant, which is located about five miles south of Stanton.

U.S. MAY ASK WEST GERMANY TO DROP NUCLEAR DEMANDS

Washington (UPI) —The White House gave the first official indication Thursday that the administration may ask West Germany soon to drop its demands for a voice in the control of nuclear weapons.

Press Secretary Bill D. Moyers told newsmen it was "fair to assume" that during West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's visit Sept. 26-27, President Johnson will discuss his desire for a U.S.-Soviet compromise on formulation of a treaty to ban the spread of nuclear weapons.

Unconfirmed reports that Johnson was readying to ask Erhard to drop his request for a voice in nuclear control have circulated here for some time. Moyers' cursory remark was interpreted by observers as a first confirmation of a presidential move concerning Germany.

Moscow has charged that the American draft treaty contains a loophole which would give West Germany indirect access to nuclear arms.

In an open letter Wednesday, 290 prominent Americans, including 12 Nobel prize winners, asked Johnson to close this loophole in order to test East-West agreement on the American draft treaty.

Moyers noted that Johnson has recently renewed his interest in the conclusion of an anti-proliferation treaty.

At Idaho Falls, Moyers recalled, the President "expressed a strong hope that we would achieve a compromise that could bring about a treaty."

The intellectuals' letter was signed in the name of the educational committee to halt atomic weapons spread.

It said: "It is our hope that the President will make evident that, in the scale of importance, the United States places achievement of a non-proliferation treaty above the sharing of atomic weapons with West Germany or any other non-nuclear powers."

Complaints of racial dis-rimination at the Nebraska enal Complex were outlined y Sen. Edward Danner of maha before the Governor's uman Rights Commission hursday.

The Legislature's only Ne-ro member said his informa-ion was based on a number f interviews with penitentia-y inmates, but the "same hread runs through all their tories."

"Prison authorities put white boys into the Negro cell block as extsa punishment to he white convicts," he said. "This is degradation of Negroes in using them as punishment for white disciplinary problems."

Inferior Beds

Danner said there were complaints of inferior beds in the Negro cell block as compared with the white block.

Charging discrimination in job assignments, Danner said, "No Negroes are allowed to participate in vocational training jobs. They get brooms, laundry and kitchen assignments—no skilled jobs or training."

Danner said he is not defending criminals, but he is discrimination in the treatment or discipline at the prison.

Danner said he hopes Gov. Frank Morrison will assign a committee "to investigate the complaints and determine the truth."

He suggested the Committee on Public Institutions may be the proper committee, but that the problem may be of concern to the human rights commission.

Observer Possible

The commission discussed the possibility of a representative being present as an observer to any investigation ordered by the governor.

In other action, the commission recommended that "racial designation be removed from marriage applications and licenses in Nebraska."

Action came after the commission was advised that Nebraska was one of only three states still using race on marriage papers.

Prof. Charles Tenney of the University of Nebraska advised the commission that there is "no legal bar in Nebraska to requiring race on the marriage licenses," but suggested that legislation could be enacted to make such designation "confidential for statistical purposes only."

Floyd To Report

The commission also authorized Homer Floyd, Omaha member of the commission, to draft a report to the governor regarding student experiences of housing discrimination near the University of Nebraska Medical College campus.

Floyd reported that medical school officials have now adopted a policy of non-discrimination of the listing of available rental or sale housing for students.

However, he said, minority group students are being discriminated against in securing of off-campus quarters.

James Wolfe of Albion said the report should be submitted to Gov. Morrison and Mayor A. V. Sorensen with the urging they use the power of their offices "for an educational program to resolve the housing discrimination problem."

Rev. Carroll Lemon of Lincoln, another commission member, noted the University of Nebraska has a non-discrimination policy on its Lincoln campuses, but said "Lincoln still has this housing problem around its campuses."

Student Entitled To Pay Resident Fees At Iowa U

Des Moines, Iowa (AP) — A panel of three federal judges ruled Thursday that a former Illinois resident is entitled to pay resident tuition fees at the University of Iowa Law School.

The court held the university's tuition system charging out-of-state residents about double that of Iowa residents seems reasonable but was interpreted too rigidly in the case of George Clarke

Clarke, 22, moved to Iowa in 1961 from Elmwood, Ill. He testified he married an Iowa girl, plans to practice law in Iowa after graduation, votes in Iowa and pays Iowa taxes.

Quigley Quits As Legislative Fiscal Analyst

John F. Quigley, Nebraska's legislative fiscal analyst, has resigned.

He informed the Legislative Council Executive Board Thursday he has accepted the position of research director for the Colorado Public Expenditure Council, a privately-financed organization comparable to the Nebraska Tax Research Council.

Quigley was appointed Fiscal analyst in March of 1962 at $11,000 a year, but has since been raised to $12,130

He said the pay for the Colorado position is "by comparison, substantially favorable."

Quigley has been a key figure in state government changes related to financing and budgeting procedures

No Bids Received On Bridge Project

The State Roads Department failed to receive any bids Thursday on a contract to install lighting on the Missouri River bridge at Nebraska City.

A Roads Department spokesman said Iowa officials will be consulted to determine the next step.

The project, urged by officials of both states to increase bridge safety, carries a $6,225 price tag, with Iowa paying $5,000 of the costs.

Nebraskaland Bid Entered By Valentine

Valentine was the first Nebraska community to submit a proposal on becoming the permanent site of the Nebraskaland Days celebration, a State Game Commission spokesman said Thursday.

The commission had asked proposals be submitted by Thursday, but Dick Schaffer indicated the deadline may be extended to Oct. 1.

He said both Lincoln and North Platte have indicated they may seek additional time.

Ogallala, Beatrice, Grand Island and Columbus also are expected to submit proposals, but only Valentine's bid had been received by Thursday afternoon.

Nebraskaland Days, sponsored by the state commission, has been located in Lincoln the past two years, but other communities are being given the opportunity to propose permanent facilities for the annual four-day event.

Rice Increase

Tokyo (AP)—North Viet Nam claimed it had a rice harvest showing a gross output increase over last year despite U.S. air raids, the official Peking News Agency (NCA) reported. It quoted the Hanoi General Statistical Bureau as saying the cultivated area increased 9.3% and the yield per hectare by 3.5%.

U.S. To Increase Aid To Philippines

Washington (AP)—The United States announced Thursday night a $55-million increase in its military and economic assistance to the Philippines to support the development programs of President Ferdinand E. Marcos.

A communique issued at the end of two days of formal talks between President Johnson and the Philippine leader said that the expanded aid effort "Will give priority to President Marcos' rural development and rice productivity program, including loans for irrigation projects and grants for other aspects of this program."

The communique gave no figures but it was learned that the new plans call for an increase in annual military aid from $20 million to $30 million and a boost in economic assistance from about $18 million to $63 million.

The President's communique was issued a few hours after Marcos in a speech to a joint session of Congress said Asian leaders hope they soon will be able to shape a political organization to solve peacefully such conflicts as exist in Asia today.

Marcos said it must be recognized, however, that currently Communist China is the major problem facing all other Asian nations and that American troops at present are the only ones capable of deterring Chinese designs on its neighbors.

In his written text, Marcos outlined his hopes for establishment, in the indefinite future, of machinery to roll communist power back of the 17th Parallel in Viet Nam and thus pave the way for a U.S. pullout from that country and, ultimately, from all of mainland Asia.

Although he omitted this as he departed frequently from his text, a Philippine spokesman said he had not abandoned this idea

U.S. TO OPPOSE CHINA'S U.N. ENTRY AGAIN

Washington (AP) — After reviewing its China policy, the Johnson administration has decided once again to oppose an expected move in the United Nations to seat the Red Chinese.

In reporting this Thursday, U.S. officials also said America will join in backstage efforts to persuade U Thant to take another term as U.N. secretary general.

U.S. strategists forsee a serious crisis over choosing a successor if he steps down, because the Soviets would be expected to seek a secretary general less zealous in behalf of U.N. effectiveness.

FORMER coed is autumn bride

In the presence of members of the immediate families, the marriage of Miss Kathie Snell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Hulbert, to James E. Dunlevey, son of Mrs. Earl Dunlevey, and the late Mr. Dunlevey, took place Thursday afternoon, Sept. 15. The lines of the ceremony were read at 3:30 o'clock by District Judge Elmer Scheele.

The matron of honor was Mrs. John Douglas Gardner, and serving Mr. Dunlevey as best man was Walter Switzer.

Mr. and Mrs. Dunlevey will make their home at 640 Capitol Ave.

A graduate of the University of Nebraska, the bride is a member of the university's library staff. Director of the State Department of Motor Vehicles, Mr. Dunlevey is a graduate of Knox College, Galesburg, Ill., and of the University of Nebraska College of Law.

Marriage Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon D. Carr announce the marriage of their daughter, Alice Jean, to A.1C Edward P. Starnes, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Starnes of Memphis, Tenn.

Mrs. Starnes is attending the University of Nebraska.

EASTBOROUGH

Many Lincoln residents already are familiar with the projects of the American Field Service in the city, and this year the Rev. and Mrs. Warren Swartz are acquiring a first hand understanding of its wonderful student exchange programs. They have acquired a new son, Tom Nguyen of Saigon, South Viet Nam.

Tom, who arrived in Lincoln in August is a senior at Northeast High School this fall with the Rev. and Mrs. Swartz' daughter, Cindy. Also included in his new American family is another "sister," Susan, and one "brother", Lloyd who is a sophomore at Northeast.

How does Tom like America? About nine additional pounds worth, reports Mrs. Swartz. Some of that nine could have been from Tom's 17th birthday cake that the family presented to him on Aug. 27—the first anniversary cake in his entire life.

For a young man from a country that has been at war for over 10 years, America's peacefulness is most impressive. Waking in the morning without the sound of guns or bombs exploding is a new experience for Tom. Mrs. Swartz explained that Tom's main concern during the year he will spend here is to try to express his appreciation to Americans for what they are doing to help his country.

Visitors arriving in the Eastborough neighborhood for a weekend visit will be Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Baumert, two former residents of Eastborough themselves. It seems that Mr. Baumert will escape to the Nebraska football game for a few hours on Saturday while Mrs. Baumert and their children, Jim, Dee, Susue, Joe, Marty and Tom, visit old friends. The Baumerts, now residents of North Platte, have been gone from Lincoln for one year.

PARK VALLEY HEIGHTS

Rare is the mother who can't remem- summer plea from her children, 'Mommy, what can we do'. This year Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Davis had a very good answer, and they sent their daughter, Yvonne, literally packing.

Yvonne, a sixth-grader at Riley School, spent two June weeks in Greeley, Colo. as the houseguest of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Beierback and their daughter, Pat. After Yvonne's visit the two cousins returned to Lincoln together for a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Davis.

SOUTH HILLS

Coffee, cookies, conversation and a new resident are occupying the feminine residents of Sunnyhill Road this morning. The coffee, for which Mrs. Ron Hoffman at her home is in honor of Mrs. Tom Gross who, with her husband, Mr. Gross, has moved into the home at 1831 Sunnyhill.

Greeting Mrs. Gross this morning will be Mrs. Don Asher, Mrs. Jim Carlin, Mrs. LeRoy Pierce, Mrs. Phillip Wilson, Mrs. Don Sperry, Mrs. Robert Sunling, Mrs. Ed Wickenhauser, Mrs. Larry Haight, and Mrs. Rolland Hardekopf.

Also entertaining in South Hills will be Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Anderson who will be host and hostess at a post-game dinner at their home Saturnay evening. The 14 guests all will attenr the TCU Nebraska clash and then return to the Anderson's to celebrate the victory.

TALK of the town

There are homecomers to mention this morning—Mrs. Thomas C. Woods, for one. Mrs. Woods returned to Lincoln on Tuesday from several weeks spent at her Madeline Island, Wis.

Another name on the homecomer list is that of Mrs. Arthur Raymond who, so we are told, will be arriving today—also from her summer home at Madeline.

* * *

Mrs. Woods, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Milton Petersen, Jr., of Omaha, will be leaving again a week from next Monday. The travelers are going to Chicago where, on Sept. 28, they will attend the St. Luke Hospital benefit fashion show. Mrs. Woods' brother-in-law and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Woods, are the sponsors of this year's show.

* * *

Also going to Chicago—in time for the St. Luke's presentation of fashions—will be Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Faulkner who are to be the guests of Mr. Faulkner's aunt, Mrs. Thomas Howell.

* * *

Now back to Lincoln—and news of another pre-game party on Saturday.

Entertaining at their home will be rs. Gerald J. Roberts who have invited 80 guests for the affair.

Attending the affair from out of town will be Mr. Roberts' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald J. Roberts, and Mrs. Roberts' parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Thomas, all of Fort Worth, Tex.

Annual Dean's Tea

Freshman women at the University of Nebraska will be honored guests this afternoon at an annual tea given by the associate Dean of student affairs, Miss Helen Snyder.

The event, which will be held at the Pan American Room of the Nebraska Student Union between the hours of 3:30 o'clock to 5:30 o'clock, will give the young women the opportunity to meet Dean Snyder and also the five directors of the women's residents halls on campus.

In the receiving line with Dean Snyder will be Mrs. Gene Regester, Miss Frances Holman, Miss Margaret Billings, Mrs. Jan Hazlett and Mrs. May Pierce.

Club Program

Mrs. Robert Green presented a program, "American Eighteenth Century Furniture", at the Monday evening meeting of the Forty-Niners Extension Club, held at the home of Mrs. Joe Hile. Mrs. Gilbert Meier was assisting hostess.

During the meeting, Mrs. Robert Green was elected president of the club, and other new officers will be Mrs. Herman Dell, vice president; Mrs. Merle Schaal, secretary; and Mrs. Wilbert E. Johnson, treasurer.

Alumnae

Mrs. Ed Hammond will be hostess to the Delta Delta Delta Alumnae Tuesday evening at her home 3232 So. 30th.

Mrs. Leroy Asman is chairman of the hostess committee for the 7:45 o'clock meeting, and the program on antiques will be given by Mrs. Charles Craft.

FORMER
coed is autumn bride

In the presence of members of the immediate families, the marriage of Miss Kathie Snell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Hulbert, to James E. Dunlevey, son of Mrs. Earl Dunlevey, and the late Mr. Dunlevey, took place Thursday afternoon, Sept. 15. The lines of the ceremony were read at 3:30 o'clock by District Judge Elmer Scheele.

The matron of honor was Mrs. John Douglas Gardner, and serving Mr. Dunlevey as best man was Walter Switzer.

Mr. and Mrs. Dunlevey will make their home at 640 Capitol Ave.

A graduate of the University of Nebraska, the bride is a member of the university's library staff. Director of the State Department of Motor Vehicles, Mr. Dunlevey is a graduate of Knox College, Galesburg, Ill., and of the University of Nebraska College of Law.

Marriage Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon D. Carr announce the marriage of their daughter, Alice Jean, to A.1C Edward P. Starnes, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Starnes of Memphis, Tenn.

Mrs. Starnes is attending the University of Nebraska.

NEWS

EASTBOROUGH

Many Lincoln residents already are familiar with the projects of the American Field Service in the city, and this year the Rev. and Mrs. Warren Swartz are acquiring a first hand understanding of its wonderful student exchange programs. They have acquired a new son, Tom Nguyen of Saigon, South Viet Nam.

Tom, who arrived in Lincoln in August is a senior at Northeast High School this fall with the Rev. and Mrs. Swartz' daughter, Cindy. Also included in his new American family is another "sister," Susan, and one "brother", Lloyd who is a sophomore at Northeast.

How does Tom like America? About nine additional pounds worth, reports Mrs. Swartz. Some of that nine could have been from Tom's 17th birthday cake that the family presented to him on Aug. 27—the first anniversary cake in his entire life.

For a young man from a country that has been at war for over 10 years, America's peacefulness is most impressive. Waking in the morning without the sound of guns or bombs exploding is a new experience for Tom. Mrs. Swartz explained that Tom's main concern during the year he will spend here is to try to express his appreciation to Americans for what they are doing to help his country.

Visitors arriving in the Eastborough neighborhood for a weekend visit will be Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Baumert, two former residents of Eastborough themselves. It seems that Mr. Baumert will escape to the Nebraska football game for a few hours on Saturday while Mrs. Baumert and their children, Jim, Dee, Susue, Joe, Marty and Tom, visit old friends. The Baumerts, now residents of North Platte, have been gone from Lincoln for one year.

PARK VALLEY HEIGHTS

Rare is the mother who can't remem- [illegible] is summer plea from her children, 'Mommy, what can we do'. This year Mr. and Mrs. Walter R. Davis had a very good answer, and they sent their daughter, Yvonne, literally packing.

Yvonne, a sixth-grader at Riley School, spent two June weeks in Greeley, Colo. as the houseguest of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Beierback and their daughter, Pat. After Yvonne's visit the two cousins returned to Lincoln together for a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Davis.

When August arrived Yvonne was on her way to Levenworth, Kan., and visits with more cousins, Jim, Paul and Gary Becker, the sons of Mr: and Mrs. Paul Becker. Even as September rolled around, Yvonne continued to travel. Her last stop was at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Davis of Seward. Here Yvonne with her brothers, Bret and Scott spent their four days helping the family paint the house. But school began and Park Valley Heights' version of Nelly Bye had to return Sept. 3 for good—or at least for nine months.

BRIDE

at church ceremony

The wedding of Miss Judith Ann Trank, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren A. Trank of Alliance, and Robert Paul Chaloupka, son of Dr. and Mrs. M. L. Chaloupka of Callaway, took place Sunday, Aug. 21, at the Presbyterian Church in Alliance.

Wearing sheath frocks of silk crepe in mint green were Miss Sharon Hubbard, Rock Rapids, Iowa, the maid of honor; and the bridesmaids, Miss Barbara Wooster and Miss Jean Hoemann, Omaha; Miss Edwyna Williams and Miss Janice Roten, Alliance.

Larry Mowrey of Callaway served as best man, and the corps of users included Bob Lewis, Callaway; Vaughn Wiebusch, Broken Bow; Pete Tatman, North Platte; Bob Geiger, Thurman, Iowa; Steve Leninger, Fullerton, and Gailard Longmore, David City.

The bride's gown of white silk organza over taffeta was touched with Chantilly lace, which formed the lantern sleeves and was repeated in a deep applique on the slim skirt. A detachable train of the organza extended to cotillion length, and her illusion veil was held by a single rose of organza and lace.

Mrs. Chaloupka, a member of Delta Delta Delta, is a senior at the University of Nebraska, where the bridegroom is attending the College of Law. He is a member of Kappa Sigma and Phi Delta Phi.

Officers Elected

At their monthly meeting on Tuesday afternoon the tension Club elected new officers for the coming year. Named to the presidency was Mrs. Guy Matson, and other elected officers include Mrs. Orval Wissink, vice president; Mrs. Lyle Hall, secretary; Mrs. Walter Bagley, treasurer, and Mrs. William Fountain, publicity chairman.

The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Orval Wissink, with Mrs. Dale Weese serving as co-hostess. The lesson on "Music and Nebraska" was presented by Mrs. Bagley and Mrs. Fountain. It was announced that the members of the club would participate in the sale of the Centennial Cookbook.

response to double

BIDDING QUIZ

You are South, both sides vulnerable. The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
3 ♣	Dble	Pass	?

What would you bid now with each of the following five hands?

1. ♠J9752 ♥J63 ♦842 ♣95
2. ♠92 ♥J853 ♦KQ3 ♣J1084
3. ♠J3 ♥KQ984 ♦KJ87 ♣62
4. ♠KQ652 ♥KJ73 ♦Q8 ♣74
5. ♠KJ843 ♥KQ32 ♦A953 ♣—

1. Three spades. This is of course an unpleasant bid to make, but you really have no choice since partner's double requests you to bid and you are not responsible for being dealt this sad collection of cards.

It would be wrong to pass. Your chances of beating three clubs are poor, and a pass is therefore out of the question. Partner's double is primarily for takeout, and the best thing to do is obey him by bidding your best suit.

2. Pass. Here you are permitted to pass because there is reason to think you can beat three clubs. You have two probable defensive tricks and it is not too much to expect partner to take at least three. The alternative bids of three hearts or three notrump might produce a better result than three clubs doubled, but they are more likely to lead to a minus score. A pass looks best in the long run.

3. Four hearts. The double of a preemptive bid is nearly always based on a better-than -average opening bid, and it is therefore probable that 10 high-card points and a reasonable suit will produce a game. A three heart response would be totally inadequate. We have values and we should express them.

4. Four clubs. Game is practically certain, but whether the proper trump suit is spades or hearts is at this point uncertain. The safest response is to cuebid clubs and force partner to choose the suit. The intention is to pass four hearts or four spades if that is what partner bids. If the response to four clubs is four diamonds, we intend to bid four spades.

The cuebid is used quite liberally these days to show a game-going hand. No longer does it guarantee theace er does it guarantee the ace suit, as it did for many years. It is a kind of catch-all.

5. Four clubs. The cue bid is used here also, but this time it is for real, that is, we actually have first-round control. Obviously, we will not settle for less than a small slam in the suit of partner's choice. Whichever suit North selects, we can afford to cuebid clubs again (to show actual first-round control) and then raise him to six. Such a sequence invites seven.

ABBY

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a new bride with a problem I am unable to solve. Newlyweds have many adjustments to make, and I feel that the more time my husband and I spend together, the sooner we will make these adjustments. Our biggest problem is this: My husband has been asked to play golf again by some of his college friends. I don't especially enjoy being left at home on Saturday afternoons, Sundays, and holidays. Especially without a car. When I complain it always ends up in an argument, so I decided to solve the problem by taking up golf, too. I play a fairly decent game, but somehow I get the idea that he would rather play with his men friends. Am I wrong to object? At 22, I am . . .

A GOLF WIDOW

DEAR WIDOW: If you "somehow get the idea" that your husband would rather play with his men friends, he probably would. And you should let him. Don't be so possessive! Either find something to do at home or line up a golf game with some women friends. A young husband who's interested in improving his swing is less apt to be a "swinger" later on.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: That anthropology student who said the American Indian was a "foreigner" who migrated from Africa should go back and learn more.

I am an American Indian and a Catholic, but what the Mormons teach makes sense to me. They say that the world ends from time to time, but only the American Indian survives, so they are really God's chosen people. Now if only we can find an Indian "Moses" to lead them out of bondage.

It is a good thing our tribe was not there at Plymouth Rock when the pilgrims landed, or I'm afraid the riff-raff that got off the Mayflower woldn't have stayed long.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. Only Coaches Worried

From the reaction of most fans to mid-week concern expressed by NU coaches over Saturday's opponent, the fans are far less worried than the coaches.

This is to be expected, of course, since only the fans' Saturday night fun is in danger while the coaches know their jobs hang on the won-lost scale.

"I was just up watching Nebraska practice," one fan said, panting for breath as he charged up to our desk. "I read what coach Devaney had to say about Texas Christian running us out of the stadium, but I don't think we got anything to worry about."

"Why should we have to worry about Texas Christian," claims another fan. "We beat them bad last year and they have the same players back."

Unfortunately, Nebraska does not have some of its same players back—players like Tony Jeter and Freeman White, who hauled in two early touchdown passes from Bob Churchich.

And also, unfortunately, those TCU players, who are returning, were much better than they appeared in Lincoln a year ago. They showed that later in the TCU season.

Figuring NU coaches are slightly more aware of the dangers than the armchair quarterbacks, we'll call it a squeaker for the Huskers: NEBRASKA 24, Texas Christian 21.

Other Big Eight Games

IOWA STATE 21, Wisconsin 7 . . . The Cyclones will be tough early and the Badgers still are among the weakest in the Big 10.

ARMY 14, Kansas State 7 . . . The Cadets hardly had time to become acquainted with their new coaching staff, but they likely didn't forget enough of Tom Cahill's mannerisms as a freshman tutor to help the Wildcats.

COLORADO 14, Miami, Fla. 13 . . . The Buffs have had trouble with openers recently, but they should win a close one on superior speed.

MISSOURI 10, Minnesota 7 . . . Tigers will out-tough the Big 10 Gophers.

TEXAS TECH 20, Kansas 7 . . . The Texans are minus Donny Anderson, but they still have too much for the Jayhawks

ARKANSAS 17, Oklahoma State 0 . . . Big Eight followers aren't likely to learn much about the Cowboys from this one.

TCU Standout Almost Never Played

He still found time to play football at Caldwell High School before tending to his chores around the barnyard each evening. But no A&M coach visited with Frank after his graduation.

"There was no debate about where I was going to college," says Horak with a slight grin. "I had no other choice. TCU was the only school interested in me."

Probably some of the other conference schools wish they had taken a closer look at the TCU safety and punt return specialist who earned second string all-American honors last year on both the Associated Press and United Press International teams. He also has been named to many preseason all-American teams.

Nebraska Wraps Up TCU Drills

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Nebraska put the finishing touches on its preparations Thursday for the Saturday football opener against Texas Christian with the main thought being that they'll have to stop what amounts to the best set of backs they've faced since Bob Devaney came to Lincoln.

"We have faced a lot of teams with good backs," Devaney noted Thursday after sending his Huskers through an hour and 15 minute drill with the emphasis on kickoff returns. "But we have never faced a team with backs that had both the size and the speed that Texas Christian has."

The Horned Frogs return both the Southwest Conferences Sophomore Back of the Year and the runner-up in that poll with fullback Kenny Post and halfback Steve Landon.

And the back-up men are just as big with the exception of quarterback with fullback Ross Montgomery at 206, wingback Leslie Brown at 185 and halfback Norman Bulaich at 204.

This size plus the speed can cause problems both inside as well as outside for the NU defense.

"With their size, they have the potential to break through the middle as well as to get around end with their speed," Devaney mentioned.

"And if they do get into our secondary, we don't have anyone who can catch them," he continued. "They have two backs, who can run the 100 in 9.5 and 9.6."

Missouri Depth Only Tiger Question Mark

. . . MIZZOU BIG 8 SPOILER

(One of a Series)
By JIM VAN VALKENBURG

Columbia, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri football team which opens the season against Minnesota here Saturday could become the spoiler in the Big Eight race.

Missouri's first 22 will make things tough for any team.

Behind the first 22, however, the ranks are mighty thin and green, in places. Dan Devine's club is more vulnerable in case of injuries than top-ranked Nebraska and No. 2-rated Colorado in the Big Eight.

Aside from this, it will be a typical Devine team—solid on defense, fundamentally sound and hard-hitting.

Devine has no quarterback comparable to Gary Lane, leader of the 1965 club which was Big Eight runner-up, No. 6 nationally and the Sugar Bowl champion. He doesn't have the line depth and experience of last year.

Quarterback isn't considered a problem by Devine, however. Gary Kombrink received summer passing help from Charley Johnson of the St. Louis Cardinals. He's smart and quick. Devine says he has another advantage—"He thinks like I do."

Behind him are Connie Deneault and Dan Sharp, both smart and talented but green.

In the line, Devine is calling on his best defensive men, Bill Powell, 233-pound tackle, and Russ Washington, 275-pound end, for double duty. Both will play part-time at the offensive tackle positions.

"I don't think there is a better tackle at his weight in the country than Bill Powell," Devine said. "Gary Grossnickle can be as good a safety man as we've had at Missouri. Jim Whitaker is a good man on defense and so are guard Don Nelson and end Dan Schuppan."

Devine is just as high in his praise of halfbacks Charlie Brown, skittery runner who led the Big Eight with 1,057 yards rushing last year including 120 in the Sugar Bowl, and Earl Denny, a top all-around hand.

He shudders to think what might happen if either is hurt, though. Denny underwent knee surgery in January and still has occasional trouble. Brown's operated knee held up well throughout last season.

At fullback, Barry Lischner at 220 rates with any of the league's power runners. Kicking is in good hands with Bill Bates, who made six of 13 field goal tries and 16 of 20 conversions last year.

"Our opening schedule of Minnesota, Illinois and UCLA is tough but it might help us if we can avoid injury," Devine said. "It could mature our young players more quickly."

Southeast Attack Gives Rockets Worrying Point

. . . BEST LSE OPENER IN 6 YEARS

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Having apparently solved their usual slow starting offensive performance, the Knights of Lincoln Southeast bid to put an end to another early season football nemesis at Seacrest Field Friday night.

This one comes in the form of Lincoln Northeast as the two clubs battle for early supremacy in the Trans-Nebraska Conference and a shot at statewide leadership.

Both clubs carry 1-0 records into the 7:30 p.m. battle. Southeast stunned North Platte, 26-6, and Northeast blanked Fremont, 10-0, last week.

Southeast Coach Bill Stephenson is still looking for his first win over an Art Bauer-coached Northeast eleven.

"We've only been ahead of them once," he says of the five games his clubs have dropped to the Rockets. Bill has plenty of company in that department, however, as the Rockets have won 41 of 45 starts in those five years.

Southeast's primary problem in the five games was a lack of scoring punch.

Stephenson called the Southeast effort in which Craig Lutz threw for three touchdowns and the defense held North Platte to minus rushing yardage as the finest opening game by the Knights in his six seasons.

Also impressed was Northeast scout Hank Willemsen.

"It looked like they were in their third game of the season instead of the first," he said of the smoothness of the Southeast attack.

"They passed well, their backs ran hard and their line was aggressive, beating North Platte to the punch all the time," he said.

Stephenson also got a report which spoke of the opposition in glowing terms.

Southeast scout Dean Sell says "Northeast's defensive line was impressive and I'm sure that their passing game will be much better than it appeared against Fremont.

"They may not be quite as quick as they have been in the past, but they make up for it with their size," he adds.

Stephenson really didn't need that report to get a line on the Rockets. "I don't see how they can be anything but tough," he says, noting the experienced hands returning.

"I don't know whether or not it's good, but I think we probably gave them something to think about," he said.

Both camps were working overtime this week in preparation for the contest.

Bauer, pleased with most aspects of his team's win over Fremont, indicates that there are a few spots in which the Rockets will need to improve.

"We'll have to be more alert on defense and eliminate some of our offensive penalties if we want to win," he says.

The Capital City spotlight is directly on the Northeast-Southeast scrap Friday night as Pius X has the week off and Lincoln High waits until Saturday night to entertain Hastings.

Sooners Select Grid Co-Captains

Winfrey, starting weak side guard, and Robinson, starting defensive left end, were appointed by the coaching staff.

Coach Jim Mackenzie said the coaches would name senior captains before each game, with the team naming an honor captain or captains at the end of the season.

. . . GIANTS DUMP NY

By Associated Press

The Los Angeles Dodgers increased their National League lead to 2½ games by routing Vern Law with a five-run first inning Thursday night and defeated the second-place Pittsburgh Pirates 5-3.

A run-producing double by Lou Johnson and a run-scoring single by Jim Lefebvre were the key hits in the big frame. Don Drysdale, who recorded his 10th victory against 16 defeats, needed relief help from Phil Regan in the ninth after being tagged for two-out homers by Roberto Clemente and Willie Stargell.

The Pirate's setback enabled San Francisco to move to within a half game of second place. The Giants collected 14 hits, including two homers by Tito Fuentes and one by Jim Hart, in trouncing the New York Mets 10-4.

Baltimore moved closer to its first American League pennant by sweeping a twi-night doubleheader from California 2-0 and 4-3. Pinch-hitter Charlie Lau's single in the bottom of the ninth drove in the winning run in the nightcap. Rookie Tom Phoebus, making his first big league start, blanked the Angels on four hits in the opener.

Bert Campaneris' sacrifice fly in the 11th inning gave Kansas City a 1-0 victory over Cleveland. The triumph was the A's seventh in a row.

In other games, Washington and the New York Yankees split a doubleheader, the Senators winning the first game 5-4 and the Yanks the second 10-5, Detroit whipped Minnesota 8-5, Boston edged the Chicago White Sox 5-4 and the Chicago Cubs trounced Atlanta 8-2.

The Senators' first game triumph gave them the season series against the Yanks for the first time since 1933. New York's second game victory was only its fifth against 10 setbacks by Washington. Three games remain between the clubs.

Rookie Stan Bahnsen, former University of Nebraska hurler, recorded his first big league victory in the nightcap during which the winners collected 13 hits, including Tresh's second home run of the day.

Only Coaches Worried

From the reaction of most fans to mid-week concern expressed by NU coaches over Saturday's opponent, the fans are far less worried than the coaches.

This is to be expected, of course, since only the fans' Saturday night fun is in danger while the coaches know their jobs hang on the won-lost scale.

"I was just up watching Nebraska practice," one fan said, panting for breath as he charged up to our desk. "I read what coach Devaney had to say about Texas Christian running us out of the stadium, but I don't think we got anything to worry about."

"Why should we have to worry about Texas Christian," claims another fan. "We beat them bad last year and they have the same players back."

Unfortunately, Nebraska does not have some of its same players back—players like Tony Jeter and Freeman White, who hauled in two early touchdown passes from Bob Churchich.

And also, unfortunately, those TCU players, who are returning, were much better than they appeared in Lincoln a year ago. They showed that later in the TCU season.

Figuring NU coaches are slightly more aware of the dangers than the armchair quarterbacks, we'll call it a squeaker for the Huskers: NEBRASKA 24, Texas Christian 21.

TCU Standout Almost Never Played

He still found time to play football at Caldwell High School before tending to his chores around the barnyard each evening. But no A&M coach visited with Frank after his graduation.

"There was no debate about where I was going to college," says Horak with a slight grin. "I had no other choice. TCU was the only school interested in me."

Probably some of the other conference schools wish they had taken a closer look at the TCU safety and punt return specialist who earned second string all-American honors last year on both the Associated Press and United Press International teams. He also has been named to many preseason all-American teams.

"Those two-a-day drills when I first reported dampened my enthusiasm," he says frankly. "I was so green, I didn't even put on my hip pads for the opening workout. I didnt know where they were supposed to go."

Southeast Attack Gives Rockets Worrying Point

. . . BEST LSE OPENER IN 6 YEARS

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Having apparently solved their usual slow starting offensive performance, the Knights of Lincoln Southeast bid to put an end to another early season football nemesis at Seacrest Field Friday night.

This one comes in the form of Lincoln Northeast as the two clubs battle for early supremacy in the Trans-Nebraska Conference and a shot at statewide leadership.

Both clubs carry 1-0 records into the 7:30 p.m. battle. Southeast stunned North Platte, 26-6, and Northeast blanked Fremont, 10-0, last week.

"We've only been ahead of them once," he says of the five games his clubs have dropped to the Rockets. Bill has plenty of company in that department, however, as the Rockets have won 41 of 45 starts in those five years.

Stephenson called the Southeast effort in which Craig Lutz threw for three touchdowns and the defense held North Platte to minus rushing yardage as the finest opening game by the Knights in his six seasons.

Also impressed was Northeast scout Hank Willemsen.

"It looked like they were in their third game of the season instead of the first," he said of the smoothness of the Southeast attack.

Stephenson also got a report which spoke of the opposition in glowing terms.

Southeast scout Dean Sell says "Northeast's defensive line was impressive and I'm sure that their passing game will be much better than it appeared against Fremont.

"They may not be quite as quick as they have been in the past, but they make up for it with their size," he adds.

Stephenson really didn't need that report to get a line on the Rockets. "I don't see how they can be anything but tough," he says, noting the experienced hands returning.

"I don't know whether or not it's good, but I think we probably gave them something to think about," he said.

Both camps were working overtime this week in preparation for the contest.

Bauer, pleased with most aspects of his team's win over Fremont, indicates that there are a few spots in which the Rockets will need to improve.

"We'll have to be more alert on defense and eliminate some of our offensive penalties if we want to win," he says.

The Capital City spotlight is directly on the Northeast-Southeast scrap Friday night as Pius X has the week off and Lincoln High waits until Saturday night to entertain Hastings.

Sooners Select Grid Co-Captains

Winfrey, starting weak side guard, and Robinson, starting defensive left end, were appointed by the coaching staff.

Coach Jim Mackenzie said the coaches would name senior captains before each game, with the team naming an honor captain or captains at the end of the season.

. . . MIZZOU BIG 8 SPOILER

(One of a Series)
By JIM VAN VALKENBURG

Columbia, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri football team which opens the season against Minnesota here Saturday could become the spoiler in the Big Eight race.

Missouri's first 22 will make things tough for any team.

Behind the first 22, however, the ranks are mighty thin and green, in places. Dan Devine's club is more vulnerable in case of injuries than top-ranked Nebraska and No. 2-rated Colorado in the Big Eight.

Aside from this, it will be a typical Devine team—solid on defense, fundamentally sound and hard-hitting.

Devine has no quarterback comparable to Gary Lane, leader of the 1965 club which was Big Eight runner-up, No. 6 nationally and the Sugar Bowl champion. He doesn't have the line depth and experience of last year.

Quarterback isn't considered a problem by Devine, however. Gary Kombrink received summer passing help from Charley Johnson of the St. Louis Cardinals. He's smart and quick. Devine says he has another advantage—"He thinks like I do."

In the line, Devine is calling on his best defensive men, Bill Powell, 233-pound tackle, and Russ Washington, 275-pound end, for double duty. Both will play part-time at the offensive tackle positions.

"I don't think there is a better tackle at his weight in the country than Bill Powell," Devine said. "Gary Grossnickle can be as good a safety man as we've had at Missouri. Jim Whitaker is a good man on defense and so are guard Don Nelson and end Dan Schuppan."

Devine is just as high in his praise of halfbacks Charlie Brown, skittery runner who led the Big Eight with 1,057 yards rushing last year including 120 in the Sugar Bowl, and Earl Denny, a top all-around hand.

He shudders to think what might happen if either is hurt, though. Denny underwent knee surgery in January and still has occasional trouble. Brown's operated knee held up well throughout last season.

At fullback, Barry Lischner at 220 rates with any of the league's power runners. Kicking is in good hands with Bill Bates, who made six of 13 field goal tries and 16 of 20 conversions last year.

"Our opening schedule of Minnesota, Illinois and UCLA is tough but it might help us if we can avoid injury," Devine said. "It could mature our young players more quickly."

Four Linksmen Tie In Portland

. . . FIRE 5-UNDER 67'S

Portland, Ore. (AP)—Four golfers, including top money-winner Bill Casper and little-known Pete Brown, fired five-under par 67s Thursday for the first-round lead in the $50,000 Portland Open.

Joining them in the lead were veteran Bob Goalby and third-year pro Bill Martindale. All except Martindale had rounds of 33-34 on the par 36-36-72, Columbia Edgewater course, which stretches 6,436 yards. Martindale shot 35-32.

Defending champion jack Nicklaus, who has won this tournament three times in the last four years, putted poorly and was back in the field with a par 72. Four players were one shot back at 68 and seven golfers finished two strokes off the pace with 69.

Two Missouri Players Will Miss Opener

Only linebacker Bob Ziegler, convalescing from a knee injury and split end Chuck Weber who has a pulled muscle, are unlikely to see service against the Gophers.

Jim Willsey, left guard on the offensive unit, has suffered dizzy spells and will not start but will be available, coach Dan Devine said. Gary Frieders will start instead.

Kampschroeder Starts In Jayhawk Lidlifter

Lawrence, Kan. (AP) — Hallie Kampschroeder, Kansas flanker back who has been nursing a sore knee, will be able to start against Texas Tech Saturday, Coach Jack Mitchell said Thursday.

Political Leader Supports Merger

Washington (AP) — House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford said Thursday Congress should pass legislation to ease the path of merger for the National Football League and the American Football League.

"The need is there," Ford told a news conference.

He said legislation would insure that the two leagues could conduct a common draft of potential players, and at the same time, protect high school and college football from Friday night competition of professional game television.

Browns Schedule Jim Brown Day

Browns' guard John Wooten is heading the Farewell Day committee. Profits will go to the Negro Industrial and Economic Union, an organization designed to help Negroes become established in business.

Wooten said top stars from the entertainment world will perform and pro basketball stars Bill Russell and Wilt Chamberlain are scheduled to make appearances along with heavyweight boxing champion Cassius Clay.

Injured Cyclones Reported Better

Ames, Iowa (AP) — Medical reports on two sidelined members of the Iowa State football team were promising Thursday, and the pair may be on hand for the opener at Wisconsin Saturday.

Guard Bill Brooks, a 225-pound offensive starter, was reported improving from an attack of tonsilitis and due out of the hospital Friday.

Linebacker Jon Soucek, who has been out with a knee injury since Monday, should be back to near full strength by game time, reports said.

North Platte High Grid Senior Dies

North Platte (AP) — Harold Cooper, 17, a senior at North Platte High School, died Wednesday in an ambulance while being taken to a Denver hospital for examination by medical specialists.

Cooper has taken to a North Platte Hospital and was being transferred to Denver when he died.

His father said the boy had a kidney ailment.

K-State Adds Soccer-Style Placekicker

Manhattan, Kan. (AP) — The Kansas State traveling squad for the Army football game Saturday will number 45, including Peter Huss, a soccer-style placekicker who joined the squad Monday.

Huss is a transfer from Arkansas Junior College by way of Austria and Germany. Coach Doug Weaver says he hadn't been able to find a man who could consistently put kickoffs in the end zone until Huss came along.

"Even if we don't get any help out of him in the Army game, he'll give us some help somewhere along the way," Weaver said Thursday.

O-State Names 50-Man Squad

Stillwater, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma State's football squad went through a light workout Thursday, and coach Phil Cutchin announced a 50-man traveling squad would leave Friday morning for Little Rock, Ark.

Cutchin said the playing status of starting backs Tommy Boone and David Dickerson "Looks very doubtful."

Boone and Dickerson both sustained leg injuries Wednesday.

Babysitting Set For Home Tilts

The University of Nebraska Dames, an organization of the wives of the married men students on campus, will sponsor a babysitting service for those attending home football games. The hours are from 1 to 5 p.m. and the place is the Student Union.

Wayne Expects Hard Battle With Coyotes

Wayne — The toughest opponent of the season, that's what Wayne State coaches expect in the next battle, against South Dakota University at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Vermillion, S.D.

The Bourbon is JIM BEAM.

You couldn't put water in a Volkswagen if you wanted to. Or anti-freeze.

The VW engine is cooled by air.

No hose to leak or clog or run up costly repair bills.

You can almost forget about oil. The VW rarely needs it between changes.

Four Linksmen Tie In Portland

. . . FIRE 5-UNDER 67'S

Portland, Ore. (AP)—Four golfers, including top money-winner Bill Casper and little-known Pete Brown, fired five-under par 67s Thursday for the first-round lead in the $50,000 Portland Open.

Joining them in the lead were veteran Bob Goalby and third-year pro Bill Martindale. All except Martindale had rounds of 33-34 on the par 36-36-72, Columbia Edgewater course, which stretches 6,436 yards. Martindale shot 35-32.

Defending champion jack Nicklaus, who has won this tournament three times in the last four years, putted poorly and was back in the field with a par 72. Four players were one shot back at 68 and seven golfers finished two strokes off the pace with 69.

Two Missouri Players Will Miss Opener

Columbia, Mo. (AP) — Missouri's football squad was on the practice field only 55 minutes Thursday in preparation for the Tigers' season opener with Minnesota here Saturday.

Only linebacker Bob Ziegler, convalescing from a knee injury and split end Chuck Weber who has a pulled muscle, are unlikely to see service against the Gophers.

Jim Willsey, left guard on the offensive unit, has suffered dizzy spells and will not start but will be available, coach Dan Devine said. Gary Frieders will start instead.

Kampschroeder Starts In Jayhawk Lidlifter

Lawrence, Kan. (AP) — Hallie Kampschroeder, Kansas flanker back who has been nursing a sore knee. will be able to start against Texas Tech Saturday, Coach Jack Mitchell said Thursday.

Political Leader Supports Merger

Washington (AP) — House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford said Thursday Congress should pass legislation to ease the path of merger for the National Football League and the American Football League.

"The need is there," Ford told a news conference.

He said legislation would insure that the two leagues could conduct a common draft of potential players, and at the same time, protect high school and college football from Friday night competition of professional game television.

Browns Schedule Jim Brown Day

Browns' guard John Wooten is heading the Farewell Day committee. Profits will go to the Negro Industrial and Economic Union, an organization designed to help Negroes become established in business.

Wooten said top stars from the entertainment world will perform and pro basketball stars Bill Russell and Wilt Chamberlain are scheduled to make appearances along with heavyweight boxing champion Cassius Clay.

Injured Cyclones Reported Better

Ames, Iowa (AP) — Medical reports on two sidelined members of the Iowa State football team were promising Thursday, and the pair may be on hand for the opener at Wisconsin Saturday.

Guard Bill Brooks, a 225-pound offensive starter, was reported improving from an attack of tonsilitis and due out of the hospital Friday.

Linebacker Jon Soucek, who has been out with a knee injury since Monday, should be back to near full strength by game time, reports said.

North Platte High Grid Senior Dies

North Platte (AP) — Harold Cooper, 17, a senior at North Platte High School, died Wednesday in an ambulance while being taken to a Denver hospital for examination by medical specialists.

Cooper has taken to a North Platte Hospital and was being transferred to Denver when he died.

His father said the boy had a kidney ailment.

K-State Adds Soccer-Style Placekicker

Manhattan, Kan. (AP) — The Kansas State traveling squad for the Army football game Saturday will number 45, including Peter Huss, a soccer-style placekicker who joined the squad Monday.

Huss is a transfer from Arkansas Junior College by way of Austria and Germany. Coach Doug Weaver says he hadn't been able to find a man who could consistently put kickoffs in the end zone until Huss came along.

"Even if we don't get any help out of him in the Army game, he'll give us some help somewhere along the way," Weaver said Thursday.

O-State Names 50-Man Squad

Stillwater, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma State's football squad went through a light workout Thursday, and coach Phil Cutchin announced a 50-man traveling squad would leave Friday morning for Little Rock, Ark.

Cutchin said the playing status of starting backs Tommy Boone and David Dickerson "Looks very doubtful."

Boone and Dickerson both sustained leg injuries Wednesday.

Babysitting Set For Home Tilts

The University of Nebraska Dames, an organization of the wives of the married men students on campus, will sponsor a babysitting service for those attending home football games. The hours are from 1 to 5 p.m. and the place is the Student Union.

The children will be divided into age groups for play activities.

Wayne Expects Hard Battle With Coyotes

Wayne — The toughest opponent of the season, that's what Wayne State coaches expect in the next battle, against South Dakota University at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Vermillion, S.D.

It never touches a drop.

You couldn't put water in a Volkswagen if you wanted to. Or anti-freeze.

The VW engine is cooled by air.

It doesn't have a radiator. Or any of the usual radiator problems.

No hose to leak or clog or run up costly repair bills.

You get more dividends when it comes to gas and oil.

The VW averages 29 miles to the gallon of gas. Sometimes even more. Sometimes a little less. Depending on how you drive.

You can almost forget about oil. The VW rarely needs it between changes.

Tires go a long way, too. Common wear is 40,000 miles.

Maybe that's why so many people are going Volkswagen. It's not a car that spends your money like water.

POSTCARD by Stan [illegible]

The mail brought a new set of records into the cloudy day. "The Great Band Era." I put them on and — Tommy Dorsey with a horn of honey: "Getting Sentimental Over You."

There was sentiment all over the place. I had to have a nip at the cooking sherry before I could get composed again.

☆ ☆ ☆

I wonder whatever happened to smelling salts? My grandma wouldn't stir out of the house without them. Ladies carried them in their purses. When they felt faint, they took a sniff.

☆ ☆ ☆

Summer is over. But the barbecue lingers on. Some people are so outdoor, they cook on barbecues inside the house. They put a little hibachi in the fireplace.

Lost moppets were all over the place when I was molding public opinion for the dailies.

The lost child wound up in the police station. We photographed him wearing a policeman's cap and eating an ice cream cone. It showed police were kindly at heart.

Now it is the fashion to throw gasoline-filled bottles at cops. Probably tossed by some of the lost tots we bought ice cream for. It's a rough business. I'm glad I'm not in it.

☆ ☆ ☆

These are peaceful days. (Thank goodness!) I am happy to run out of summer. Fall is a brisk time.

Do you have a rabbit with falling ears?

You can buy little mineral pills for such flopsy rabbits. (I read this in a pet magazine. A fortune cookie with fortunate answers). This pill will perk up the ears.

The financial picture is better — or at least I got an article by a man who felt so. Probably just back from the three-martini lunch when he wrote it.

"Money may be tighter, but there is no cause for alarm."

Man, if I was alarmed every time money was tight I'd be in a straightjacket a lot of the time.

Money is usually tight for me. Except on payday or days of unexpected income. Then money is very, very loose. I am The Last of the Big-Time Spenders on such occasions.

Summer ends. I looked up the poets on this. All I could find was something about "stooks arise." So I had to look up "stooks" which are "unthreshed grain."

Poets complicate life it seems to me.

Revolt Against Powell Planned In Committee

Washington (AP)—A move to strip Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., of his powers as chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee was disclosed Thursday by Rep. Sam H. Gibbons, D-Fla., a leader of the revolt.

Gibbons said he plans to move in the committee next Thursday for the adoption of new rules that would place Powell's powers in the hands of six subcommittee chairmen. He said he expects to win.

Powell, who had learned of Gibbon's plan, called a news conference before Gibbons disclosed it and accused the Florida congressman of reaching "a new low in political irresponsibility and a new high in racial hysteria."

Gibbons said he was trying now to overthrow Powell as chairman because "Mr. Powell's actions have become so damaging to the programs we have in our committee and because they reflect upon the integrity of Congress.'

He said Powell's frequent absences, his discharge of key committee staff members without provocation and his move to make "black power" a nationwide political and economic weapon among Negroes were among the reasons that led him to act.

Gibbons did not say with whom he is working in the revolt effort, but at least four of the subcommittee chairmen are believed to be willing to support the move.

Chinese Teens Want Portuguese, British Colonies

Hong Kong (AP)— Thousands of teen-age Red Guards, in a rally at Canton Wednesday, were reported to have drafted demands that Communist China "regain" Hong Kong and Macao, the Portuguese colony.

The report, from Chinese arriving here Thursday from Red China, said the Red Guards warned Peking that continued existence of the British and Portuguese colonies on China's borders would seriously damage China's new revolutionary image.

They also reportedly claimed that the existence of Hong Kong and Macao would give reactionaries and revisionists (Red Chinese for Russians) ammunition for defamatory attacks against China.

The Soviet Union has twitted Red China about the presence of "imperialist colonies" on China's shores.

Belgian Ministry Sets NATO Move Cost At $43 Million

Brussels, Belgium (AP)—It will cost $43 million to transfer the North Atlantic Treaty Organization military headquarters from France to Belgium, the foreign ministry said Thursday.

A ministry note said the Belgian share of these costs will be $2.2 million, to which should be added about $1.5 million for improving the proposed site at Casteau to fit the needs of Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers in Europe (SHAPE).

In addition, Belgium has committed itself to build urgently a highway between Brussels and Mons, the nearest city to Casteau. Belgium also will arrange for international trains between Brussels and Paris to stop at Mons.

The Casteau site, a former military camp, belongs to the state. It was accepted by NATO in spite of the declared reluctance of the SHAPE commander, U.S. Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer.

British 'Queen' Nearly Involved In Ship Collision

Southampton, England (AP)—The 81,000-ton Queen Mary was nearly involved in collision Thursday with the American freighter John B. Waterman, 6,165 tons.

The freighter, arriving from New Orleans, moved rapidly forward after her stern towing line broke. Caught by a rough wind, she grazed two quayside cranes and just missed the Queen. As her stern cut a v-shaped wedge from the masonry of the quay wall.

"I thought we were going to hit the Queen Mary amidships," a member of the freighter's crew said, "but our anchor went down and we swung away."

Photographers Select Fuller

Hopes Fade For Crewmen Of U-Boat

Hamburg, Germany (AP) — With one man rescued and six bodies recovered, hopes faded Friday for the 13 missing crewmen of a West German U-boat that sank in 145 feet of water during a North Sea gale Wednesday night.

Ships and plans of four nations searched the choppy sea Thursday, but found only one survivor, Petty Officer Peter Silbernagel, 23. He was picked up by the British trawler St. Martin. After he floated for 12½ hours on the rough, wind-lashed waters.

Silbernagel said the U-boat, the training submarine Hai (Shark), "suddenly sank like a stone" under the gale as it voyaged toward Scotland for a courtesy visit.

The navy quoted him as saying water had entered the engine room and that the commander had ordered: Abandon ship! He said he saw between 8 and 11 men get out.

In London, a German diplomat said Thursday night, "there may still be life aboard the submarine if we can get down there quick enough."

Revolt Against Powell Planned In Committee

Washington (AP)—A move to strip Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., of his powers as chairman of the House Education and Labor Committee was disclosed Thursday by Rep. Sam H. Gibbons, D-Fla., a leader of the revolt.

Gibbons said he plans to move in the committee next Thursday for the adoption of new rules that would place Powell's powers in the hands of six subcommittee chairmen. He said he expects to win.

Powell, who had learned of Gibbon's plan, called a news conference before Gibbons disclosed it and accused the Florida congressman of reaching "a new low in political irresponsibility and a new high in racial hysteria."

Gibbons said he was trying now to overthrow Powell as chairman because "Mr. Powell's actions have become so damaging to the programs we have in our committee and because they reflect upon the integrity of Congress'

He said Powell's frequent absences, his discharge of key committee staff members without provocation and his move to make "black power" a nationwide political and economic weapon among Negroes were among the reasons that led him to act.

Gibbons did not say with whom he is working in the revolt effort, but at least four of the subcommittee chairmen are believed to be willing to support the move.

Chinese Teens Want Portuguese, British Colonies

Hong Kong (AP)— Thousands of teen-age Red Guards, in a rally at Canton Wednesday, were reported to have drafted demands that Communist China "regain" Hong Kong and Macao, the Portuguese colony.

The report, from Chinese arriving here Thursday from Red China, said the Red Guards warned Peking that continued existence of the British and Portuguese colonies on China's borders would seriously damage China's new revolutionary image.

They also reportedly claimed that the existence of Hong Kong and Macao would give reactionaries and revisionists (Red Chinese for Russians) ammunition for defamatory attacks against China.

The Soviet Union has twitted Red China about the presence of "imperialist colonies" on China's shores.

Belgian Ministry Sets NATO Move Cost At $43 Million

Brussels, Belgium (AP)—It will cost $43 million to transfer the North Atlantic Treaty Organization military headquarters from France to Belgium, the foreign ministry said Thursday.

A ministry note said the Belgian share of these costs will be $2.2 million, to which should be added about $1.5 million for improving the proposed site at Casteau to fit the needs of Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers in Europe (SHAPE).

In addition, Belgium has committed itself to build urgently a highway between Brussels and Mons, the nearest city to Casteau. Belgium also will arrange for international trains between Brussels and Paris to stop at Mons.

The Casteau site, a former military camp, belongs to the state. It was accepted by NATO in spite of the declared reluctance of the SHAPE commander, U.S. Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer.

British 'Queen' Nearly Involved In Ship Collision

Southampton, England (AP)—The 81,000-ton Queen Mary was nearly involved in collision Thursday with the American freighter John B. Waterman, 6,165 tons.

The freighter, arriving from New Orleans, moved rapidly forward after her stern towing line broke. Caught by a rough wind, she grazed two quayside cranes and just missed the Queen. As her stern cut a v-shaped wedge from the masonry of the quay wall.

"I thought we were going to hit the Queen Mary amidships," a member of the freighter's crew said, "but our anchor went down and we swung away."

Photographers Select Fuller

Omaha (AP) — The Nebraska Professional Photographers Association at its annual convention elected LaVern Fuller of Grand Island as president. Dick Blomgren, Lincoln, is vice president; Laurel Aitkens, Columbus, treasurer, and Bud Reese, Omaha, secretary. Other board members are Helene Larson, Fremont; Helen Pitstick, Nebraska City, and Francis Zabloudil, Ord.

Italian Housewife Gives Birth To 4

Melfi, Italy (UPI) — A 36-year-old Melfi housewife Thursday gave birth to quadruplets, three girls and a boy. Doctors said the babies are expected to survive.

Mrs. Maria Pietrantuono, the wife of a waiter and already the mother of five, was reported in good condition after giving birth to the quads who weighed from four pounds ten ounces to five pounds four ounces.

Hopes Fade For Crewmen Of U-Boat

Hamburg, Germany (AP) — With one man rescued and six bodies recovered, hopes faded Friday for the 13 missing crewmen of a West German U-boat that sank in 145 feet of water during a North Sea gale Wednesday night.

Ships and plans of four nations searched the choppy sea Thursday, but found only one survivor, Petty Officer Peter Silbernagel, 23. He was picked up by the British trawler St. Martin. After he floated for 12½ hours on the rough, wind-lashed waters.

Silbernagel said the U-boat, the training submarine Hai (Shark), "suddenly sank like a stone" under the gale as it voyaged toward Scotland for a courtesy visit.

The navy quoted him as saying water had entered the engine room and that the commander had ordered: Abandon ship! He said he saw between 8 and 11 men get out.

In London, a German diplomat said Thursday night, "there may still be life aboard the submarine if we can get down there quick enough."

TRIPLE TIRE GUARANTEE

1 — LIFETIME QUALITY GUARANTEE — guaranteed to be free from defects in material and workmanship for the life of the tread.

2—ROAD HAZARD GUARANTEE—for the number of months specified against cuts, bruises, fabric breaks, and blowouts which render the tire unserviceable.

3—NATIONWIDE GUARANTEE — This guarantee will be honored at all Diamond outlets throughout the U.S.A.

If our examination shows that tire has failed under terms of guarantee we will replace it on a pro rata basis charging only for wear received as proportionate part of original purchase price. Adjustments will be based on remaining tread.

Guarantee does not apply to tires irregularly worn, damage by puncture, fire, collision, chain cuts, or obstructions on automobile, or tires run flat.

Tires used commercially guaranteed only against defects in material or workmanship for life of the tread. Commercial use means other than normal car service.

Stock Market Climbs Again

New York (AP)—The stock market recovery drive won a lot more credibility for itself among technicians Thursday as it stretched its string of advances to five straight. Trading was moderate.

Volume was 6.15 million shares compared with 6.25 million Wednesday.

The Dow Jones industrial average advanced 8.07 to 814.30, putting it further above the psychologically important 800 level which it vaulted so surprisingly on Wednesday.

The question of credibility - or just plain belief by enough investors that stock market prices will be going up for a while, anyway — has boiled down to the numbers in the averages.

As Indicator Digest put it: "If the industrials succeed in landing squarely into the 800's at any day's close, and if the rails confirm this by closing at 202 or higher, the new upswing will be clearly established and should then go on to at least the next supply area between 840 and 860."

The Dow Jones rails advanced 1.29 to 202.52, thus providing the "confirmation" demanded by the technical theorists at this advisory service.

Prices rose from the start Thursday and kept rising almost to the closing bell, even though many leading stocks — both blue chips and glamor issues — stumbled on profit taking.

Of 1,378 issues traded, 724 rose and 440 fell. New lows for the year totaled 41 and new highs seven.

The degree of profit taking among volatile issues which have been trading favorites was reflected by the 15 most active stocks, of which losers outnumbered gainers by 8 to 7.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were generally higher. Volume was 1.23 million shares compared with 1.33 million Wednesday. The exchange's index rose $.07 to $13.67.

Corporate bonds were mostly lower.

Butcher Hogs Extend Their Downward Trend

The top of $23.25 for about 350 head of 200-225 lb mixed No. 1 and 2 grades was the lowest peak since June 1965. It represented a decline of $1.50 a hundredweight since Monday. Other mixed 1s and 2s went as low as $23 while mixed 1-3 grades moved at $22.50-23. Sows were $18.25-21.25.

All Grains Drift Into Weakness

Chicago (AP) — All commodities in the grain futures market drifted into weakness Thursday as speculators, trading defensively, liquidated or at least shortened long positions in rather slow transactions.

Analysts said the market actually lacked any significant new trade influences and that the pressure was more toward adjustment of what they called a technical situation than of any bearish development.

Wheat closed 1¼-3¼ cents a bushel lower, September $1.90¼ corn ⅝-1¾ lower, September $1.41¼-⅜; oats unchanged to 1⅛ lower, September 74 cents bid; rye 1½-2¼ lower, September $1.26⅝; soybeans 3 to 8 cents lower, September $3.15¼-⅞.

Food Stamp Plan Expands To 14 More Counties

Chicago (UPI) — The federal food stamp program will be expanded into 14 additional Nebraska counties, the U.S. Department of agriculture said.

The areas designated include: Adams, Boone, Box Butte, Boyd, Buffalo, Cedar, Clay, Cuming, Custer, Dakota, Douglas, Franklin, Gage, Hall, Hamilton, Holt, Jefferson, Keith, Kimball, Lincoln, Nemaha Otoe, Rock, Stanton, Washington, Webster and York Counties.

When these new food stamp projects are under way, 33 areas will be operating in Nebraska.

Floyd Still Sought For Kansas Post

Wichita, Kan. (AP)—The Kansas Civil Rights Commission was reported to be continuing efforts to hire Homer Floyd as its director.

Robert Watson, chairman of the Kansas Commission, said he had been in touch with Floyd several times about the Kansas job.

Watson said money was always a problem in such a situation, where "you've got a $9,500 statutory limit." Floyd's salary at Omaha is reported to be $11,000 annually.

But, Watson said, "I think we might be able to surmount this problem, if other things work out." He declined to elaborate.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Market Decline Challenges Old Investment Methods

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

MERRYLE RUKEYSER

Premises Challenged

The tumultuous decline in stock and bond quotations has caused many investors to challenge the premises on which they have been working.

A quarter of the market value of industrial stock averages has been sloughed off since the peak was reached on February 9. Meanwhile, high grade bond quotations, including tax free municipal and state obligations, have also slumped.

Thus, a reader of this column in Montrose, Colorado writes that he began a year or two ago to take a substantial position in prime long term tax free municipal bonds. "In my tax bracket," he pointed out, "these bonds were, considering federal and state taxes, giving me almost double the nominal rate of interest, and things looked good.

"Then this past spring the bond market went down as new issues of municipal bonds and government bonds began to raise their interest rates. Whereas my bonds were formerly worth par, some are now down to 88 or 90, altogether owing to the poor bond market and not due to any deterioration of security of my bonds.

False Forecast

"I had been told by a broker that, when the stock market went down, people took their money out of stocks and put it in bonds. Well, the stock market has been falling since early spring and bonds also seem to keep going down. The forecast of the broker has not come true.

"I realize that, if I hold the bonds to an indefinite period for many years that the good rate of interest (including the tax exempt feature) will even things up a bit, but in the event I should feel compelled to sell the bonds within the foreseeable future I would take a substantial loss on the principal.

"While you may not be a prophet, have you any idea whether the bonds will rise in market value again if the stock market continues to fall as it is doing? Have you any suggestions for further protecting my investment to keep from incurring further loss? Any suggestions you might have as to whether to try to do anything at all, or whether to sit tight would be appreciated."

All Are Affected

Sympathetic as I am toward those who accumulate investable capital legitimately through their own exertions, I don't think the investor should be oblivious of the risks involved. It is no escape from self blame to accuse the broker of limited knowledge. He is not paid by the customer to read the crystal ball, but gets a fixed commission for executing buy and sell orders. He always acts for "the accou and risk of the customer

Maybe the reader didı listen carefully to tı broker. It is an oversimpli cation to say that peoı were in process of takiı money of stocks and puttiı the proceeds in bonds. Son undoubtedly did so, but eve share of stock outstanding still owned by someone. Tru in recent months profession managers of pension funds, i vestment companies, insu ance enterprise portfolic and fiduciary (trust) fun have tended to reduce tl ratio of freshly available i vestment funds placed stocks as contrasted wit bonds.

Always Fluctuate

Outstanding bonds of hig credit always fluctuate the open market so as bring the price of old issu in line with the current pr vailing interest rate. If, has been the case thus f this year, interest rates ri sharply, one impact is depress the quotations outstanding old bonds. Th is an adjustment to tı changing cost of borrowir money, and in no way r flects on the credit quality of the borrowin governmental unit or pı vate company

If the reader has bonds prime credit, he should ho on and ride through the cu rent storms. Safety principal is not the sol criterion, especially for person in higher tax brac ets. If principal free fro market fluctuations becan the end-all and be-all, tl reader could achieve it by pı ting his funds in savings insı tutions or by buying short ter (six months or thereabout U.S. Government obligations

As a matter of fact, tl current slump in prices good municipal bon, creates the best opportuni in four decades to acquı optimum spendable incon over long periods. The bonc at prevailing prices are fa more attractive than the were a couple of years ag

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to r ceive inquiries from readers with stamp self-addressed envelopes concerning the financial problems in care of The Linco Star. Questions of general interest will answered in the column. Others, to t extent time permits, will be handled mail.)

Stock Market Climbs Again

New York (AP)—The stock market recovery drive won a lot more credibility for itself among technicians Thursday as it stretched its string of advances to five straight. Trading was moderate.

Volume was 6.15 million shares compared with 6.25 million Wednesday.

The Dow Jones industrial average advanced 8.07 to 814.30, putting it further above the psychologically important 800 level which it vaulted so surprisingly on Wednesday.

The question of credibility - or just plain belief by enough investors that stock market prices will be going up for a while, anyway — has boiled down to the numbers in the averages.

As Indicator Digest put it: "If the industrials succeed in landing squarely into the 800's at any day's close, and if the rails confirm this by closing at 202 or higher, the new upswing will be clearly established and should then go on to at least the next supply area between 840 and 860."

The Dow Jones rails advanced 1.29 to 202.52, thus providing the "confirmation" demanded by the technical theorists at this advisory service.

Prices rose from the start Thursday and kept rising almost to the closing bell, even though many leading stocks — both blue chips and glamor issues — stumbled on profit taking.

Of 1,378 issues traded, 724 rose and 440 fell. New lows for the year totaled 41 and new highs seven.

The degree of profit taking among volatile issues which have been trading favorites was reflected by the 15 most active stocks, of which losers outnumbered gainers by 8 to 7.

The volume leader was United Utilities which rose ⅜ to 22⅞ on 193,500 shares, of which 190,000 shares came in a single block at the opening.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were generally higher. Volume was 1.23 million shares compared with 1.53 million Wednesday. The exchange's index rose $.07 to $13.67.

Corporate bonds were mostly lower.

Butcher Hogs Extend Their Downward Trend

Chicago (AP)—Dispite a fairly active trade, butcher hogs continued Thursday their downward trend into the fourth consecutive day as a supply of 3,500 head sold steady to 25 cents lower.

The top of $23.25 for about 350 head of 200-225 lb mixed No. 1 and 2 grades was the lowest peak since June 1965. It represented a decline of $1.50 a hundredweight since Monday. Other mixed 1s and 2s went as low as $23 while mixed 1-3 grades moved at $22.50-23. Sows were $18.25-21.25.

All Grains Drift Into Weakness

Chicago (AP) — All commodities in the grain futures market drifted into weakness Thursday as speculators, trading defensively, liquidated or at least shortened long positions in rather slow transactions.

Analysts said the market actually lacked any significant new trade influences and that the pressure was more toward adjustment of what they called a technical situation than of any bearish development.

Wheat closed 1¼-3¼ cents a bushel lower, September $1.90⅛ corn ⅜-1¾ lower, September $1.41⅛-⅜; oats unchanged to 1⅛ lower, September 74 cents bid; rye 1½-2¼ lower, September $1.26¾; soybeans 3 to 8 cents lower, September $3.15¼-¾.

Floyd Still Sought For Kansas Post

Wichita, Kan. (AP)—The Kansas Civil Rights Commission was reported to be continuing efforts to hire Homer Floyd as its director.

Robert Watson, chairman of the Kansas Commission, said he had been in touch with Floyd several times about the Kansas job.

Watson said money was always a problem in such a situation, where "you've got a $9,500 statutory limit." Floyd's salary at Omaha is reported to be $11,000 annually.

But, Watson said, "I think we might be able to surmount this problem, if other things work out." He declined to elaborate.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Market Decline Challenges Old Investment Methods

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

MERRYLE RUKEYSER

Premises Challenged

The tumultuous decline in stock and bond quotations has caused many investors to challenge the premises on which they have been working.

A quarter of the market value of industrial stock averages has been sloughed off since the peak was reached on February 9. Meanwhile, high grade bond quotations, including tax free municipal and state obligations, have also slumped.

Thus, a reader of this column in Montrose, Colorado writes that he began a year or two ago to take a substantial position in prime long term tax free municipal bonds. "In my tax bracket," he pointed out, "these bonds were, considering federal and state taxes, giving me almost double the nominal rate of interest, and things looked good.

"Then this past spring the bond market went down as new issues of municipal bonds and government bonds began to raise their interest rates. Whereas my bonds were formerly worth par, some are now down to 88 or 90, altogether owing to the poor bond market and not due to any deterioration of security of my bonds.

False Forecast

"I had been told by a broker that, when the stock market went down, people took their money out of stocks and put it in bonds. Well, the stock market has been falling since early spring and bonds also seem to keep going down. The forecast of the broker has not come true.

"I realize that, if I hold the bonds to an indefinite period for many years that the good rate of interest (including the tax exempt feature) will even things up a bit, but in the event I should feel compelled*to sell the bonds within the foreseeable future I would take a substantial loss on the principal.

"While you may not be a prophet, have you any idea whether the bonds will rise in market value again if the stock market continues to fall as it is doing? Have you any suggestions for further protecting my investment to keep from incurring further loss? Any suggestions you might have as to whether to try to do anything at all, or whether to sit tight would be appreciated."

All Are Affected

Obviously, when there is a hurricane, some trees fall and even the strong ones are shaken.

Sympathetic as I am toward those who accumulate investable capital legitimately through their own exertions, I don't think the investor should be oblivious of the risks involved. It is no escape from self blame to accuse the broker of limited knowledge. He is not paid by the customer to read the crystal ball, but gets a fixed commission for executing buy and sell orders. He always acts for "the account and risk of the customer."

Maybe the reader didn't listen carefully to the broker. It is an oversimplification to say that people were in process of taking money of stocks and putting the proceeds in bonds. Some undoubtedly did so, but every share of stock outstanding is still owned by someone. True, in recent months professional managers of pension funds, investment companies, insurance enterprise portfolios, and fiduciary (trust) funds have tended to reduce the ratio of freshly available investment funds placed in stocks as contrasted with bonds.

Always Fluctuate

Outstanding bonds of high credit always fluctuate in the open market so as to bring the price of old issues in line with the current prevailing interest rate. If, as has been the case thus far this year, interest rates rise sharply, one impact is to depress the quotations on outstanding old bonds. This is an adjustment to the changing cost of borrowing money, and in no way reflects on the credit or quality of the borrowing governmental unit or private company.

If the reader has bonds of prime credit, he should hold on and ride through the current storms. Safety of principal is not the sole criterion, especially for a person in higher tax brackets. If principal free from market fluctuations became the end-all and be-all, the reader could achieve it by putting his funds in savings institutions or by buying short term (six months or thereabouts) U.S. Government obligations.

As a matter of fact, the current slump in prices of good municipal bonds creates the best opportunity in four decades to acquire optimum spendable income over long periods. The bonds at prevailing prices are far more attractive than they were a couple of years ago.

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers with stamped self-addressed envelopes concerning their financial problems in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column. Others, to the extent time permits, will be handled by mail.)
